

Attorney General Reports Some Leads Developing to King's Assassin

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — As the shot that killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. reverberated around the world Friday, there were hints that authorities may be closing in on his stealthy assassin.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark flew here from Washington and later told newsmen: "We've got some substantial leads. We're very hopeful. We've got some good breaks. There is no evidence at this time of any conspiracy."

In Washington, the crisis caused by King's death led President Johnson to cancel his trip to Hawaii, planned as a preliminary to possible peace talks with the North Vietnamese. Johnson also declared Sunday a day of national mourning for the 39-year-old King, ordered American flags to half staff at U. S. military installations throughout the world, and scheduled an address to a joint session of Congress for Monday night to outline new recommendations and suggestions for easing the plight of the Negro.

The Memphis Press-Scimitar reported, without official confirmation, that a white man had been arrested earlier in the day as he left a cheap rooming house not far from the murder scene.

It was from the rooming house that the sniper was believed to have fired at King Thursday night as the civil rights leader stood on the second-floor balcony of his hotel. A single bullet in the neck brought a violent end to a life dedicated to non-violence.

Police Director Frank Holloman said a single white man was the killer. As Holloman reconstructed his movements, he checked into the rooming house in mid-afternoon Thursday, shot King from the second-floor window of a common bathroom three hours later from a distance of 205 feet, then disappeared in the resulting confusion.

The murder weapon was believed to be a newly purchased .30-06 Remington pump rifle, discarded two doors away from the rooming house.

President Johnson postponed his departure for Honolulu for Vietnam policy talks and held a hastily called conference in Washington with civil rights leaders. He told them "the dream of Martin Luther King has not died with him."

Not invited to the meeting was Black Power militant Stokely Carmichael. An apostle of violence as King was an apostle of nonviolence, Carmichael at a news conference urged that Negroes take to the streets with guns to "kill off the real enemy."

"We have to retaliate for the death of our leaders," he added. "The execution of those debts will not be in the courtrooms. They will be in the streets of the United States of America. When white America killed Dr. King she opened the eyes of every black man in this country."

The threat of just such a blood bath was uppermost in the minds of many persons in many parts of the world, stunned at the slaying of King, the 1964 winner of the Nobel Peace Prize.

King's body was put on public view here during a brief memorial service. Hundreds of Negroes filed past in anguished tribute to a man of ordinary 5-foot-8 physical stature, whose image however loomed large enough to impress many throughout the nation, from presidents to field hands. "Lord have mercy," one woman wept beside the bronze casket, where King lay in a black suit. "Why did this happen to you, Dr. King? What are we going to do?"

Then a two-mile procession of cars formed behind the hearse that bore King's body to the Memphis Airport, where his widow, Coretta, 41, waited to take it home to Atlanta.

Mrs. King had been provided with a plane by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D.N.Y. A spokesman said Kennedy chartered the plane at Mrs. King's request after the senator telephoned to ask if there was anything he could do.

Campaigning in Indiana Thursday night, Kennedy broke the news of King's death to a predominantly Negro gathering and told them: "I had a member of my family killed, but he was killed by a white man."

Earlier, Mrs. King had said of her husband's slaying: "I do think it's the will of God. We always knew this could happen."

The Kings had two sons and two daughters, the eldest a girl of 12.

76-Day Enemy Siege Of Khe Sanh Is Lifted

KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP) — The 76-day enemy siege of Khe Sanh was officially declared lifted Friday and U.S. Marines and Army units struck out through the hills looking for vanishing North Vietnamese.

A 20,000-man allied relief column that approached almost unopposed to within less than a mile of the combat base made no attempt to enter as enemy gunners zeroed in with 110 rounds of artillery and mortar fire.

While the possibility of another battle was not excluded, it appeared the enemy had abandoned any attempt to wipe out the base astride an invasion route from Laos.

U.S. officers said the North Vietnamese force around Khe Sanh, once estimated at 20,000, had been reduced to about 7,000. Where the troops were going was not known.

Prisoners had said earlier this year that North Vietnam planned to make Khe Sanh the decisive battle of the war. Critics of the plan to keep the Marines in the isolated base in the northwest corner of South Vietnam said it could lead to another Dien Bien Phu. The fall of that base in 1954 drove the French from Indochina.

But even in the days most favorable for an enemy offensive in March, when clouds hung low over the hills to hamper U.S. air support, the North Vietnamese unworked nothing but a couple of probing attacks.

North Viet Casts Doubt On Talks

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam cast doubt Friday on talks with the United States, charging U.S. planes still were "barbarously bombing and strafing population centers" in the North.

In a reference to President Johnson's order Sunday curtailing the bombing of North Vietnam, Hanoi radio broadcast a statement by the Foreign Ministry saying U.S. warplanes had since attacked populated areas and dropped mines in rivers and canals.

WARREN COUNTY'S WAR ON POVERTY

County OEO Budget Includes Variety of Expenditures

(Editor's Note: This is the final article in a six-part series in which TMO staffer Steve Cullinan takes a close look at Warren County's anti-poverty program.)

By STEVE CULLINAN
The administrative budget of this area's anti-poverty agency, Warren-Forrest Counties Economic Opportunity Council, Inc., includes expenditures for a number of activities. The initial federal grant for the agency was called a "program development" grant. It covered a period from Dec. 7, 1965, to Jan. 31, 1967. Administrative expenses since that time have been covered by "conduct and administration" grants.

According to Richard Brown, the agency's director, a total of $60,780 was spent under these federal cash grants from December, 1965 until Dec. 31, 1967. This includes $8,356 spent under the current grant, which runs from Oct. 1, 1967 to Sept. 30, 1968; the total amount of the current cash grant is $62,936 in federal contributions and $1,296 in locally contributed cash. Brown has said. The grant also includes "in-kind" local contributions valued at $25,939.

Broken down into the agency's seven accounting categories, the $60,780 spent up until 1968 is as follows: personnel, $45,824; consultants and contract services, $2,105; travel, $7,252; space costs, $241; consumable supplies, $1,617; rent, lease, or purchase of equipment, $1,540; and other costs, $2,201. (A local contribution of about $340 is included in these figures.)

The administrative staff has increased since 1965. During the "program development" period, there were three staff members: a director (paid $7,500 per year until Dec. 1, 1966 and $8,500 per year thereafter), an assistant director (paid $6,000 per year), and a clerk-typist (paid $390 per month). Under the first conduct and administration grant, from Feb. 1, 1967, until Sept. 30, 1967, the administrative staff numbered eight to ten: one director ($8,500 per year); one assistant director ($6,200 per year); one full-time clerk-typist ($311 per month); one part-time clerk-typist ($150 per month); one secretary-bookkeeper ($333 per month); and three to five "neighborhood organizers" (at about $1,70 per hour). Under the current conduct and administration grant, there are nine staff members: one director ($8,500 per year until Dec. 1, 1967, and $10,200 per year thereafter); one "supervisor of community development" in effect an assistant director ($8,000 per year); one secretary ($333 per month); one clerk-typist ($160 per hour); one bookkeeper ($350 per month); and four neighborhood organizers ($1,80 per hour).

We recently asked Brown for some information on the administrative expenses. Here are our questions and his replies:

Troops Called Out In Washington

By Associated Press Writer
Eight persons were killed, and areas of the nation's capital and Chicago were burned, punctuating the racial violence that hit a dozen U.S. cities in angry response to the murder of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Snipers killed two men in Chicago Friday, and the body of a third man was found in a burned-out store.

Three persons were killed and 350 injured in the riots in Washington, D.C.

An 18-year-old Negro, suspected of looting, was accidentally shot and killed in a Detroit suburb when a patrolman's gun went off while the youth was being searched. A white youth was burned to death in Tallahassee, Fla., when his father's store was firebombed.

A 13-hour curfew was clamped on the nation's capital from 5:30 p.m. to 6:30 a.m. Some 5,000 federal troops and National Guardsmen and 1,000 police moved in to guard the White House and Capitol, and to clear the streets. More than 700 persons were arrested as the troops cracked down on the widespread looting and vandalism.

Fires Set in Erie

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Two fires, which police said were set by arsonists, erupted Friday night in the Negro section of Erie. Police said Negro youths hurled stones at firemen fighting the blazes.

Police with dogs were called in to control crowds that were hindering firemen.

Reservists, Guardsmen Call-Up Now Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Final decisions on call-up of thousands of Reservists and National Guardsmen have been delayed because of preparations now canceled for President Johnson's Honolulu conference on Vietnam.

Meanwhile, there is speculation that the new call-up announced by Johnson last Sunday — might be deferred indefinitely or even dropped, to avoid jarring the fragile peace atmosphere.

Defense officials said last Monday that the first increments of a Reserve Guard muster might come within three days.

They spoke in terms of initial mobilization of up to about 18,000 to provide needed support troops in Vietnam and to replace a regular Marine unit which was sent there in an emergency step in the wake of the enemy Tet offensive.

These same officials indicated a later call-up, over a period of months, of up to 50,000 Reservists and Guardsmen. These would be mainly Army, to fill out the central core of U.S.-based troops depleted by the Vietnam war.

The three days were up Thursday, with no sign of any action on the call-up. Army staff officers had expected a go-ahead on Wednesday.

Today's Youth Is A-OK

What's wrong with today's youth? Not much if the majority are made up of the same material as Greg Nosen.

Greg is a TMO paperboy who delivers his papers bright and early every weekday morning. He delivers a paper to Frances Buck at 413 Fourth Avenue at one stop on his route.

Wednesday morning, as usual, Greg flipped the paper on the porch and turned to leave. As he made his way back to the sidewalk, he spotted a billfold on the ground. It belonged to Frances Buck, he learned.

So he returned to the door and rang the bell. Then he handed over the billfold intact to its owner.

A very commendable act.

Poverty

QUESTION: "Program development" involved a total expenditure of $22,284 in federal cash. What was accomplished?

ANSWER: The accomplishments of this 13-month period of time included, first, establishing a working basis for the Economic Opportunity Council, its board of directors, staff, and the residents of Warren and Forest counties. This working basis included finalization of a set of by-laws, drafting of personnel policies, implementation of a broad based family survey to substantiate the needs of the low income residents in Warren and Forest counties, and establishing a priority for programs funded through the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

Definite measurable accomplishments were achieved in the following:

1. A Medicare alert program was conducted from late February 1966 through the end of May the same year. Nearly 100 volunteers from the two-county area were involved in contacting residents age 65 and over to sign up for Medicare assistance. These people reached hundreds of elderly persons with facts explaining the benefits of Medicare.

2. Another program with definite measurable results was the implementation of a summer Head Start program in both counties. The end results of these efforts were that 99 low income students were given the advantage of a pre-school experience prior to first grade.

3. A third measurable result was that attention began to be focused directly upon the needs of low income residents in Warren and Forest counties. This attention revealed the fact that:

(a) there are low income residents in Warren and Forest counties; (b) the problems facing these people are solvable; (c) total community involvement is required to meet the challenge of helping America's poor.

Total community involvement includes the businessman and the laborer, the political leader and the voter, the clergy and the layman, the professional person and the non-professional. In short, every individual becoming aware of and responding to the needs of the people living next door.

The program development period laid the groundwork for the ultimate drafting and implementation of several long-range programs to meet the needs of Warren and Forest county residents. This included a home health program first envisioned in 1966 and ultimately put into practice in late 1967.

The need for low cost housing, especially for the senior citizens was identified. Today several areas are actively engaged in pursuing this need.

The necessity of involving teenagers in productive community improvement was identified. The end result was the implementation of a Neighborhood Youth Corps program in mid-1967.

In short, the accomplishments of the program development period were simply the laying of a strong foundation for total community involvement leading to the ultimate solution of the problems of the area's low income residents.

QUESTION: The total cost in federal cash under the first conduct and administration grant was $29,800. What was accomplished?

ANSWER: To say in a few words the accomplishment of any of these programs is most difficult, if indeed not impossible. However, this period of time saw a continuation of implementing total community involvement focused on the needs of the low income. Definite programs that were implemented during that period of time designed to meet the needs of low income people included:

(1) A Neighborhood Youth Corps project in cooperation with the Erie Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church. Between April and June this project employed 30 teenagers who worked for local non-profit public organizations doing necessary work which heretofore was being left undone because of a lack of manpower. Between June and September, 70 teenagers were involved.

The end result was that much was done to improve the work site areas, that would not have been done unless these young people had been available. Approximately $20,000 went directly to these students and in most instances enabled them to buy the required personal items such as food, clothing, or shelter and some actually started a savings account for higher education.

(2) The second program implemented by the C & A grant was the 1967 summer Head Start. 136 students received the benefits of this pre-school cultural enrichment experience. This was an 8-week program begun in June and concluded in August 1967.

(3) The third program implemented was Project FIND. Due to a large percentage of elderly people concentrated in Warren and Forest counties, funding was secured for this project, which is designed to establish by an individual survey the actual needs of persons 55 years of age and over living in Warren and Forest counties. This project is national in scope, with the same type survey being completed in 11 other projects, and will serve as a basis for future local, state and federal action to meet the needs of America's senior citizens.

(4) The fourth project implemented involved obtaining funding for a Home Health Aide program. One of the needs identified early was for some method of caring for people in their own homes to reduce the patient load at hospitals and nursing homes. In addition, it was recognized that in some instances aid was needed to help maintain a household for short periods of time when the mother or father might be temporarily disabled.

This program provided training for 20 people to do the work of a homemaker or health aide. The end result was that 11 people actually graduated from a 6-week training class and are currently rendering this service to the residents of Warren and Forest counties.

In addition to these four tangible programs, information was continually being gathered to substantiate requests for aid in other areas of need. Attention was focused on area needs and resulted in community involvement in meeting these needs. In short, the concept of community action, which is people helping people help themselves, continues to grow in Warren and Forest counties.

QUESTION: What specifically did the neighborhood organizations do?

ANSWER: There is neither time nor space to give examples of all the work performed by these people, nor for that matter by any other employees of the council. However, some of the functions of the Neighborhood Organizers include:

(1) Conducting a household survey to determine the needs of county residents and to be able to substantiate these needs by specific names and addresses. This type of information greatly reduces the time required to (a) accurately enroll Head Start students; (b) find and enroll Neighborhood Youth Corps students; (c) make referrals of residents who need and can secure help from existing health and welfare agencies.

(2) The neighborhood organizers were utilized in filling enrollment quotas for Head Start classes and Neighborhood Youth Corps programs.

(3) Neighborhood organizers were utilized to help find enrollees for other community action projects such as Project FIND and Home Health.

(4) Neighborhood organizers are utilized to disseminate information to county residents as to services available from existing health and welfare agencies and to make referrals to these agencies and provide escort service when needed.

(5) As a result of the work of neighborhood organizers, many county residents have learned about and have been able to make home improvements by utilizing Economic Opportunity loans through the Farmers Home Administration. The Neighborhood Organizers have supplied factual material heretofore unavailable through any one source.

QUESTION: In regard to the current conduct and administration grant; since each program has its own director, what does the conduct and administration director do (besides answer reporters' questions)?

ANSWER: Sometimes very little other than answer reporters' questions. The executive director is assigned the responsibility of the overall management of the objectives and goals of the Economic Opportunity Council. The duties performed in carrying out this responsibility are far too numerous to set down in chronological order, but include the responsibility of any business executive in conducting, implementing, and researching a continuing program designed to serve people. This includes public relations on a local, state, and federal basis. It includes investigating funding sources for necessary programs on a local, state, and federal basis. Perhaps the following (printed) job description is the best answer to this question.

Among the director's tasks are to:

Develop a long-range plan for community action activities based upon requirements and needs suggested and or requested at the local level.

Provide leadership and assist the board of directors in formulating policy and implementing the same within the corporation's working programs.

Recruit and interview the professional staff subject to approval of the personnel committee.

Recruit, interview and provide for introduction, training and orientation of clerical and non-professional employees in to their respective job responsibilities.

Delegate responsibilities to staff, supervise and evaluate their work and terminate their employment, if and when required, and recommend personnel actions to the Board.

Give leadership in mobilizing community resources and in developing programs to eliminate poverty, review plans for proposed programs in light of existing governmental regulations.

Develop and maintain continuing contact and cooperative relationship between the Council and public officials, community agencies, organizations and institutions, and local, state and federal government offices related to the work of the council.

Supervise the development and preparation of necessary applications for new or continuing community action programs.

Prepare and or renew the budget and exercise supervision and control over the finances of the council as directed by the council's administrative body.

Oversee the development and supervise and coordinate the fact-finding, research and evaluative activities of the council. Initiate and maintain an adequate record system.

Prepare progress evaluation reports on work performed by all employees.

QUESTION: What specifically does the supervisor of community development do?

ANSWER: The supervisor of community development is primarily responsible for assisting the executive director in developing, directing and coordinating the community action services of the council.

For example, he:

1. Studies and analyzes operational procedures.

2. Prepares detailed and comprehensive reports of findings, and makes recommendations for community action programs.

3. Works cooperatively to involve local agencies, groups and individuals in community action programs.

4. Writes community action program applications and defines responsibilities of personnel involved.

5. Supervises clerical staff assigned to him.

6. Reviews and replies to correspondence.

7. Maintains appropriate records and files.

8. Prepares budget estimates and other fiscal and statistical reports as requested by the executive director.

9. Performs varied public relation duties:

Three Top Spellers Named In Countywide Contest

BY FRANKLIN HOFF

Top spellers in the second annual Warren County TV Spelling Bee sponsored by Warren Times-Mirror and Observer and Sheffield Observer in finals taped at studios of WSEE-TV Erie Friday afternoon, which will be telecast at noon Sunday are:

St. Joseph Parochial School Pamela Kinney, Warren County junior high schools, Diane Kerner of Beatty Junior High School. Sixth grades of Warren County District, Laura Levinson of Pleasant School.

Knights Pay Respects To Lloyd Albaugh

Members of the Knights of Columbus went in a group to the Leo D. Gibson Funeral Home Friday night to pay their respects to Lloyd G. Albaugh, 44, 210 Alexander st., who was killed Wednesday in a fire at the United Refining Co. Friday's TMO erroneously stated this information in the obituary of Earl J. Brian. Services for Albaugh will be held today at Holy Redeemer Church.

Dance Canceled

A dance scheduled at Warren Area High School Friday night, following a faculty basketball game was canceled due to a power failure, high school principal Joseph Passaro said. He added the dance may be held tonight if difficulties are resolved.

put out by the local anti-poverty agency).

The secretary performs general office work to assist the director with clerical and administrative duties; takes shorthand or transcribes from a dictating machine, using a typewriter; receives and opens mail, answering routine correspondence; acts as receptionist, answering the telephone and directing callers; prepares routine or periodic reports; performs a variety of related clerical tasks and duties; and operates common office machines including typewriters, duplicating machines, calculators and dictation equipment.

The clerk-typist records and transcribes dictation of correspondence, reports on other matters and performs any one of a variety of related clerical duties. Included in these duties are filing, typing, cutting stencils, operating office duplicating machines, answering the phone as needed, preparing rough drafts and final copies of dictated material and submission of work for approval, receiving and opening mail, directing the same to the attention of the proper persons, making appointments for officials, and taking periodic inventory of stock.

QUESTION: Is the bookkeeper the only one shared by various programs?

ANSWER: Yes.

QUESTION: The total conduct and administration (C & A) budget for October 1, 1967 to September 30, 1968 is $64,232. What will be accomplished as this money is spent?

ANSWER: The purpose of any C & A program is to conduct community action programs designed to alleviate and eliminate the problems of the area's poor. In addition, through continued research new programs are drafted to meet specific needs. In addition, facts are continually gathered to strengthen existing programs and verify needs for new programs. Only time will answer the degree of success achieved.

QUESTION: Monthly cash expenditures under the previous C & A program averaged $3,770. Under the current C & A budget, average monthly expenditures are to be $5,350. Why the increase?

ANSWER: Increased personnel and services.

QUESTION: Will all of the current grant be spent?

ANSWER: Sept. 30, 1968, will answer this question.

Laura Levinson was top speller of the entire match, as she was the last standing. It was touch and go for a time with Gail Foster of Home Street School, runner-up. At the end of the match five sixth graders had survived the entire group in all categories. They were such good spellers the match had to be moved from the main studio to another location in WSEE-TV studios.

Runners up are: St. Joseph School, Mary Jo Bonavita, Junior High, June Allen, Beatty Jr. High. Sixth grade, Gail Foster.

Three top winners now go to Pittsburgh for the Western Pennsylvania finals in the National Spelling Bee, date to be announced later. The winner there, with some seventy entries, will go on to the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C.

Lee Warthman, director of the TV spelling bees for the past 20 years, originally for northwestern Pennsylvania and northeastern Ohio, sponsored by the Erie Times and News, complimented all the spellers.

Special praise was given to co-chairmen for Warren County School District, John Johnson, principal Sheffield Elementary and David Vennberg, principal Sugar Grove Elementary. Also to Sister Romaine and Joseph Crossen, who conducted the spelling bees for St. Joseph School.

Top winners received matched Paper-Mate pen and pencil sets, specially inscribed for the occasion. Also their choice of a Webster Collegiate Dictionary or Thorndyke Barnhart Dictionary for themselves and for their teachers another dictionary.

Other prizes given to second and third place spellers in each category included Lincoln Library of Essential Information, Britannica Book of the Year, and other prizes.

All those who participated will receive a Paper-Mate pen inscribed for the occasion.

A gallery of interested parents and families witnessed the match.

Principals John Johnson and David Vennberg acted as umpires.

Two Injured In Two-Car Collision

Two persons were injured and a third complained of pain following a two-car traffic accident which occurred at 1:47 a.m. Friday on Pennsylvania avenue at Hickory street.

Borough police officer Richard L. Poorman, who investigated, said a car operated by Percy A. Sandeen, 44, 118 Yankee Bush rd., traveling north on Hickory street, attempted to turn west on the avenue where it was struck by a car driven by Gerald T. Bailey, 21, of RD 1, Clarendon, traveling east on Pennsylvania at a high rate of speed.

The Bailey vehicle, police said, traveled 150 feet after the initial impact and struck the fire escape rail support on the VW building.

Sandeen and Bailey were taken to Warren General Hospital for treatment. Sandeen's wife complained of pain.

Bailey was charged with reckless driving and total damage estimated at $2,085.

The Sandeens, relatives of Alfred R. (Buddy) Erickson, who died Thursday night at WGH from injuries sustained in a March 21 accident, were en route home after visiting the bereaved family.

Sgt. Edward Peterson and Officer Warren Davis assisted at the scene.

Maximum Sentences Imposed on Four Men

Four men drew maximum sentences of one year in the county jail yesterday. Three were charged with larceny and the fourth with being an accessory before the fact.

Burdette Thomas, Chapman Dam rd., Clarendon; Charles Ficus, 805 Lincoln ave., Warren and Robert E. Dunn, RD 1, Clarendon, pleaded guilty last month to larceny while Herbert Tarbox, 1913 Pennsylvania ave., E., Warren entered a plea of guilty to accessory before the fact.

Upon recommendation of the parole officer parole will be considered after one month in jail for Tarbox, Ficus and Dunn, after three months for Thomas.

The quartet was arrested following the theft over a considerable period of time, at least a year and a half, of a large quantity of metals and materials from Segel & Son's salvage yard in Warren. The stolen items were sold locally. The men were all Segel employees.

Upon sentencing, the jurist noted that Louis Segel, who was in the courtroom, was a good, hard-working, honest citizen who had brought up children who will contribute to the community even more than he.

"I wish I could feel you (the defendants) would do as much for your children," Judge Flick said.

Other sentences were imposed as follows: Jack Wilson Hoover, Sunset Trailer Park, North Warren, driving under the influence, $120 fine, costs, three days in jail with credit for two served; Jeanne Vacca Rapp, 2 1/2 S. State st., North Warren, worthless check ($20), imposition of sentence suspended, 60 day probation, pay costs and make restitution.

Howard McJunkin, Russell, game law violation, hunting privileges revoked; Victor Whitney, RD 1, Clarendon, driving under the influence, $120 fine, costs, three days in jail, credit for one day served.

Harry W. Bailey, RD 3, Berlin, Pa., improper pass and driving during suspension, failed to appear for sentencing for the third time. A bench warrant for his apprehension and appearance before the court was ordered issued by the judge upon request of District Attorney Samuel F. Bonavita.

McCarthy's Name Will Appear On Pa. Primary Ballot

(Editor's Note: The AP Harrisburg staff has developed a three-part series explaining political facets of the April 23 primary election. The concluding installment appears today.)

HARRISBURG (AP)—Figures don't lie, as the old saying goes, but they can surely be misleading.

Like watching Pennsylvania primary election results for presidential trends, for example, it can be an exercise in misapprehension.

Four years ago, Pennsylvania's popular Gov. William W. Scranton gathered in more votes than anybody in sight, including President Johnson.

Next on the Republican ballot was Henry Cabot Lodge.

Remember him?

Then came a fellow named

Richard M. Nixon, the man everybody is talking about this April four years later.

Gov. Shafer went on to make a big splash at the San Francisco convention, but who got the nomination? Barry Goldwater, who ran fourth in the Pennsylvania primary.

On the Democratic ticket, President Johnson held an imposing advantage by virtue of his office. Also, the Vietnam War was still in the advisory stage.

The President got 209,606 votes in that April 23 primary four years ago, compared to 12,029 for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Few people in 1964, including newspaper pundits, would ever have dreamed of the big noise being made in 1968 by Kennedy and the now well-recognized Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

McCarthy is the only presidential name which will actually be printed on the Pennsylvania presidential ballot at the April 23 primary. But Pennsylvania makes it easy for its citizens to vote for whomever they wish for president.

There's a convenient write-in space at the head of each ballot. Even with an automatic voting machine, registering your choice for president is a relatively simple operation.

Four years ago, 1,671 Republicans and 1,790 Democrats wrote such names in the presidential slot as: Mickey Mouse, Lassie, Batman, their own name, or the names of other obscure persons.

The reason for this sort of sacrilege toward the ballot may be traced to the politicians, who tend to gloss over the importance of Pennsylvania's presidential preference primary.

Nobody wins any delegates to the national conventions. The delegates are not bound in any way by the outcome of the preference primary.

Pennsylvania also makes it easy to run for president in the primary provided you are a Democrat or Republican. All it takes is $50 and 1,000 names from 10 counties. Splitter parties find it tougher to get on the ballot. Alabama's ex-Gov. George Wallace needed 10,551 to get on the November ballot.

The regular partisans prefer to play it coy. Like Gov. Shafer. He would accept a call — anybody's call — for a sure-enough run for vice president. But he's going to the Miami convention as a favorite son.

So the governor probably will get some votes from "both sides of the aisle," as they say in the legislative halls.

That's another oddity of Pennsylvania's primary presidential voting. You can cross party lines with utter abandon if you use the write-in.

County GOP Women Meet Mon.

Warren County Council of Republican Women will hold a meeting at 8 p.m. Monday, April 15, in the hospitality room of Northwest Savings & Loan.

The session will include a three-pronged program. The Warren County Commissioners in a strictly non-political appearance, will provide a progress report on that office's business since the first of the year. A special invitation was extended Thomas J. Donnelly, the lone Democrat on the board and chairman of the Commissioners of the Rouse Estate.

District Attorney Samuel F. Bonavita will discuss Question No. 5 on the spring primary ballot dealing with the Judiciary as proposed by the constitutional convention. It is also hoped that William F. Clinger will be on hand for a question and answer period on other facets of Con Con.

Last but not least the Republican contenders for the Warren-Forrest counties' seat in the General Assembly, William W. Allen, the incumbent and Robert J. Kusse, will address the group.

An interested Republicans are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Jamestown Couple Injured in Mishap

A Jamestown, N.Y., man and his wife were injured Thursday night when their car crashed into the barrier on Route 19 near Cambridge Springs after being forced off the highway by another car.

Admitted to Spencer Hospital were Ralph E. Walker, with facial lacerations and contusions and his wife, Mildred, who suffered lacerations and a broken right arm.

State police at Meadville said the Walkers were traveling north on Route 99 and were negotiating a sharp curve when their car was forced off the highway by an unidentified vehicle.

The Walker car was extensively damaged. The other motorist did not stop and police are investigating.

chance. Let's not weep, let's not feel sad, but let's take consolation in the fact that, if I've done nothing else, I've made our present senator shut up."

Dent made the statements for the first time in a speech to 1,500 home town supporters near Belle Vernon Thursday night. He elaborated in a telephone conversation from Wilkes-Barre Friday. He said Clark had "violated" the state Democratic party's endorsement by his continual attacks on President Johnson and his Vietnam war policies. At one point Clark declared President Johnson couldn't win in Pennsylvania if the war continued until November.

It was at this point, Dent said in the speech, "the White House" asked him to enter the Democratic primary against Clark in an effort to convince him to support the president and ease his criticism of the war.

Dent said Clark was informed of the strategy by Monessen Mayor Hugo Parente. Dent said: "The proposition was made that if he would... give aid and comfort to the opposition... to Sen. McCarthy, I would withdraw from the race. That was the wish of the White House."

The Greensburg Tribune. Review, in a story by Tom Wertz, said:

"His admission, only a few words short of a full prediction of defeat later this month, lent support to the political theory that President Johnson's withdrawal from the presidential race all but removed both Rep. Dent's reasons for entering the senatorial race and his chances of winning it."

In an interview after the speech, Dent said he would continue his campaign because "the minute the pressure lets us he will start up again."

"I never intended to be a candidate," Dent said.

Marconi Bridge Club Hosts NY Penn Game

There were 19 tables in the NY Penn unit bridge game at the Northwest Savings and Loan hospitality room Sunday, March 31, although only nine tables had been expected.

The Marconi Bridge Club was host, with vice president William Pollard and his committee in charge of arrangements.

Match-a-points were won as follows:

SECTION A North-South—Mrs. Joseph Bevevino, Mrs. Eric Wilkinson 107½; Joseph Zoghbe and Samuel Giunta of Olean, 105½.

East-West—William Pollard, Kermit Viscander, 106; Mrs. George Heald, William Guiles 105½.

They played against an average of 85½.

SECTION B

North-South—Mrs. E. J. Rupp and Richard French of Jamestown, 129½; Mr. and Mrs. James R. Valone 127½.

East-West—Lou Wallace of Jamestown, D. L. Vetter 133; Mrs. George Hendrix and Miss Lillian Mahoney of Olean, N.Y. 124.

The next unit game will be held in Jamestown at the Maplehurst Golf Club on April 28, Sunday. The NY-Penn Unit comprises units from Salamanca, Olean, Jamestown and Alfred, N.Y., Warren, Bradford, and St. Marys.

An Important Team

The effectiveness of Warren County's Mutual Firemen's Aid program was clearly demonstrated Wednesday night and into the early morning hours during the tragic explosion and fire at United Refining Company. Firefighters were on the scene within minutes despite the fact that the curious spectators made the going difficult. Responding to Chief Erm Fitzgerald's call for mutual aid were North Warren, Pleasant and Glade townships, Russell, Clarendon and Youngsville fire companies and their emergency units.

Chautauqua County Fire Control Center Dispatcher Harold Peters at Mayville, N.Y. alerted Busti, Frewsburg and Lakewood fire companies. The combined efforts of some 100 firemen plus the specially trained fire fighters of United succeeded in confining the blaze to its source of origin and deserve a well-earned pat on the back for a tough job well done.

With the approach of joyous Easter Day, the Palm Sunday service at the Sheffield Methodist Church will be a landmark in the increasing growth of true ecumenical fellowship. The combined voices of those of Roman and Greek Catholic-Lutheran and Methodist faiths—surely speak eloquently for the one world of Christ.

Throughout the nation, similar services of combined religions, will provide a most wondrous way toward a united America, made stronger through more complete understanding and Christian stewardship.

DREW PEARSON

The Senate Lays an Egg

WASHINGTON—On the question of ethical conduct, the Senate of the United States has laid an egg. For two years its austere and dignified members have labored mightily over drafting a code of conduct, and in the end they've brought forth a product riddled with loopholes. It makes the code drafted by Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., for the House of Representatives look like the Ten Commandments.

Now that we have a partial bombing pause over North Vietnam to examine peace, this might be a good time to take a partial Presidential jockeying pause to examine ethical conduct.

The real truth is that the Senate never had much stomach for policing itself. As a result, there was a lot of inner indignation over the idea of submitting Senate integrity to outside inspection. Senators always operated on the assumption that all of them were honorable men. It was the House of Representatives, which had to go hat in hand to collect campaign funds every two years, that should be looked upon with suspicion.

However, when Bobby Baker, the Senate Secretary, made headlines over influence peddling, and Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., was finally censured, Senate elders felt the need to quiet the public storm that followed.

The code which they adopted may read well on paper, but here is a careful diagnosis of what it actually contains:

1. It permits "slush funds" of the sort that Richard Nixon made famous. As a Senator, Nixon hit up California businessmen for contributions to help pay his personal expenses. The total was $18,000, and the public outcry almost forced Nixon off the Republican ticket in 1952. Had it not been for a dramatic TV broadcast, he would have been dropped. Now, however, the Senate has legitimized similar Nixon funds.

2. Under the code, Senators must file sealed reports of their outside income, gifts and holdings. But they can put their holdings in the names of their wives, who, in turn, are free to accept mink coats and deep freezes without making even a secret disclosure. Thus, the Senate has left the door wide open for a repetition of the minkcoat and deep-freeze scandals of the Truman administration.

3. The secret-disclosure provision requires Senators to report all legal fees above $1,000. But there is nothing to prevent a Senator from accepting, without disclosure, all the $999 fees he can stash away. Presumably, he could even accept several separate $999 payments from the same client, provided that they were billed for different services.

4. Under the code, Senators and their aides would not be required to disclose contributions or honorariums received, if they were under $300. This would legitimize the practice of Bernard Goldfine, of vicuna-coat scandal fame, who passed out $100 contributions to Senate friends.

Finally, the Senate rejected for the third time in a year a move to require full public disclosure of outside income and holdings. This was despite the fact that transgressions of Baker and Dodd have dramatized the need for turning the spotlight on the shady side of Capitol Hill.

Senators have a tendency to look upon themselves as distinct from lesser human beings. This was expressed by the Senate Ethics Committee, which declared in its official report: "A Senator is extended an extraordinary measure of trust and confidence not given to ordinary members of society."

JOSEPH ALSOP

'The Old Crocodile'

HUE - PHUAI, South Vietnam—in the wholly new circumstances created by President Johnson's memorable and superb act of self-abnegation, a short memorandum for his chief peace negotiator, W. Averell Harriman, may perhaps be in order. It follows:

Dear Governor:

In the first month of the golden Kennedy years I had to tell one of the impatient new young men, who did not remember the heroic past, that you were a bit like an old crocodile. I explained that you were quiescent-looking, even somnolent-seeming until the dictates of common sense or the great interests of the United States were attacked—whereupon the great fangs opened, and another fool found that he was figuratively missing a leg.

Mac Bundy liked and popularized the nickname, and I am afraid it stuck. And if Hanoi responds to the President's invitation to send someone to talk peace with you, the remarkable qualities of 'The Old Crocodile' will be more than ever needed.

It should not be necessary to remind you of what you once said President Kennedy told you concerning Laos—that any kind of patchup would do there for the time being, since Vietnam was the main theater, and the future of Laos and of all of Asia would be settled by the outcome of the struggle in Vietnam. That outcome cannot be another patchup, however, unless you wish the sacrifices of hundreds of thousands of young Americans to turn to dust and ashes in your hands. There is no question, either, of "winning" or "losing" in Vietnam. We have never sought anything definable as "victory" over the North Vietnamese. We have not desired their subjugation, nor sought to change their ruthless and dogmatic government, nor planned to invade their territory. We have merely sought to halt their invasion of their neighbor to the south, as they wholly falsely promised to halt their invasion of Laos in the agreement that they signed with you.

In this respect, the magnificent patriotism and disinterestedness the President has displayed give you wonderful freedom of maneuver. You do not need to worry about your chief's electoral prospects (and I had just heard from home that you had decided to stick with him despite your attachment to Sen. Robert Kennedy).

You do not need to accept false negotiating currency because it can be made to look like the real thing at the convention or for a while thereafter. You do not need to heed the councils of the defeat-at-any-price crowd who will urge you to believe in promises that will never be kept. Above all, you do not need to tolerate the endlessly reiterated North Vietnamese program of fighting while negotiating.

If we accept fighting while negotiating, it will be 10 times, 100 times worse than it was in Korea, and there we suffered more than 90,000 casualties after the talks began. But there, at least, we did not lose the war, whereas here, acceptance of anything of that sort will lead to sure defeat because of this war's infinitely more complex and interpenetrating pattern which lends itself so perfectly to Communist treachery.

Second, please bear in mind that almost all Washington discussion of the northern bombing is both illogical and ill-informed. The plain facts are that Hanoi's greatest deficiency is manpower, and the bombing has been trying to use something like 800,000 men in the tasks of air defense, transport and general repair. The great danger is that Hanoi will take advantage of a bombing pause to pour much of this huge and last-remaining manpower pool into the southern war.

Before the President acted, the war was already at its climax. His self-abnegation has untied your hands, and, above all, it has untied his hands. Speaking for him, therefore, you can say, "Take it or leave it" with high confidence. And if they do not take it, we can go in to win.

Good luck from an old friend,

WILLIAM BUCKLEY

The Unseating Of LBJ

The unseating of Johnson is among other things technically interesting. The adage that an incumbent president can defeat his own renomination appears to be mortally wounded. The objection will be raised that Lyndon Johnson didn't fail to effect his renomination, that he simply didn't try. But it is likely that he didn't try because he was uncertain that he would succeed. Those who lived through the year 1948 thought it a pretty boisterous year, what with the Wallace movement, the civil rights walk-out, and the staggering upset by Harry Truman. But even though Harry Truman was despised by his own people, the Democratic Party was never in any serious sense refractory. When Harry Truman went to Philadelphia, he was in command of the Convention and no one doubted it. Lyndon Johnson did doubt whether, in the age of television, in this moment of high emotional volatility, he could command the movements of the delegates.

That is an important datum in American history. Some will hail it as evidence that The People are in better command of their own affairs. Others, conservatives for the most part, will wonder whether it is all a cause for rejoicing. The conservative fears plebiscitary government, for the very same reasons given by Burke and Adams. Instant guidance by the people of the government means instability, and instability is subversive of freedom.

If Lyndon Johnson has to step down because 45 per cent of the Democrats in New Hampshire, half of them unable to reply accurately to the question whether Senator McCarthy was for or against the Vietnam war, voted for McCarthy, and because tens of thousands of college students moo over Bobby Kennedy who has delusions of being Ringo Starr, there is something somehow unsettling about it all.

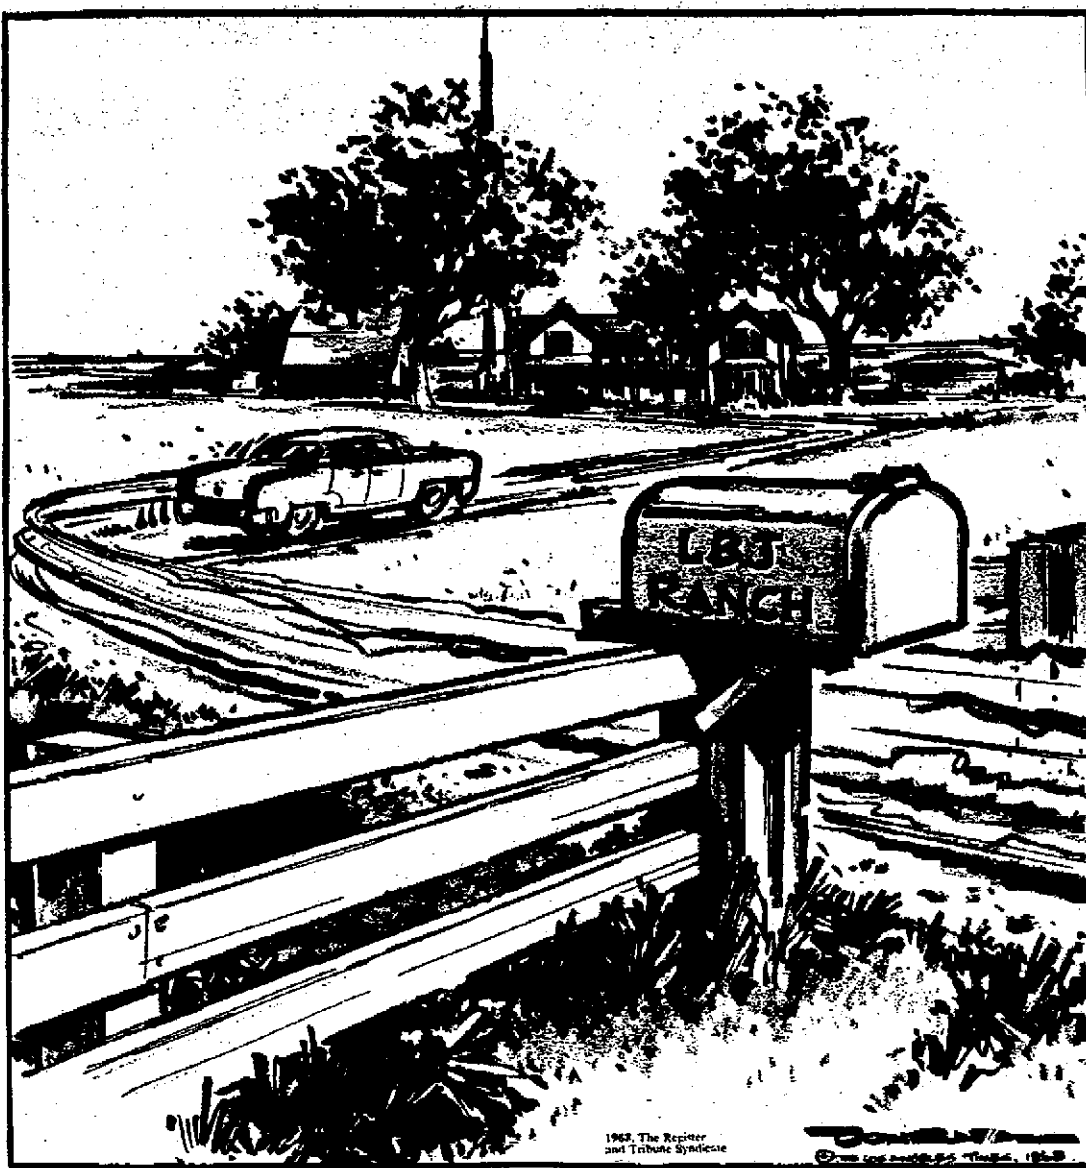

It isn't, of course, that a solid case against Johnson had not been developed. Encyclopaedias have been written detailing his shortcomings, and those of his policies, by men deeply moved in their opposition to him. But Johnson was the victim of something closer to a seizure in American public opinion, than a thoughtful and strategic judgment voted against him or his policies. And that is an unfortunate development in American politics.

Who, now, will benefit from the cultivation of the mass approach? Bobby Kennedy, inasmuch as it is his technique to egg on hysterical adulation (could you imagine him saying to one of those audiences, "Oh cut it out and stop behaving like silly children"?). Senator McCarthy is by contrast in the tradition of Adlai Stevenson and Woodrow Wilson and one fears that for precisely that reason, he is going to lose. (He should lose for other reasons.) Have you noticed how disappointed some of his followers betrayed themselves as being in Senator Eugene McCarthy? And for the most interesting reason, namely the senator's adamant sense of responsibility.

It is an ironic masterstroke that Senator McCarthy's name is the same as Bad Joe's. Whose behavior his critics wept tears of rage over. Whose behavior they now not-so-secretly wish Senator Eugene were just a little bit more capable of . . .

"He (Eugene) called us to Armageddon, and then located it in Scarsdale, New York—or perhaps Pasadena, California (writes Dwight Macdonald in Esquire). His campaign has been muted to the point of silence (how that other wicked McCarthy would have grabbed the headlines this virtuous one hasn't). Well-bred to the point of boredom, he may put us to sleep, but he'll never, no never be vulgar. . . Why doesn't he give the works to his President? —It's been done before in American politics?" To be sure, that was written before New Hampshire, but McCarthy's style hasn't changed since before New Hampshire. But it would appear to be plain that however encouraging McCarthy's performance in New Hampshire and Wisconsin, he is bound to lose up against the demagogic juggernaut from New York.

It is interesting to meditate the role of enthusiasm in politics. Obviously there is room for it. But somewhere along the line enthusiasm subtly deteriorates into unreason, and such conscious rejection of standards and restraints as sustained Mussolini and Peron. The morale is high but it is, as Albert Jay Nock used to point out, "the morale of an army on the march." Such is the morale of the forces that have unseated Lyndon Johnson.

"I will go anywhere at any time in search of peace."
—President Johnson

JAMES RESTON

Pray Silence for HHH

WASHINGTON — Hubert Humphrey seems to be the Avic of American politics. He tries harder, but always winds up No. 2. Some Kennedy or McCarthy is always getting in his way, but he's the happiest warrior we have had since Al Smith, and he can still laugh at his misfortunes.

"I have had a wonderful life," he said the other day. "If nothing ever happens from here on out, I'm satisfied. . . Of course, if something else does happen to me, that will be all right too."

Something could. He's not in the presidential race yet and he's not out of it either, but like Adlai Stevenson, he is the right man at the wrong time, probably the finest public speaker in politics today, certainly the most creative legislative mind to come out of the Senate in a generation — but by the accidents of politics, a talented charming also-ran.

Hubert ran fast in the primaries of 1960 but finished runner-up to John F. Kennedy. He wanted to be Senate majority leader when Lyndon Johnson moved downtown, but the job went to Mike Mansfield, who proclaimed him a better man. He is our No. 1 No. 2 man.

Even as vice president, he was short-changed. He didn't get the job he wanted as coordinator of the war on poverty. He was assigned the job as loud-speaker for a Vietnam policy he didn't quite approve, and instead of that big vice presidential mansion Lyndon Johnson promised him in 1965, he wound up with an apartment in Foggy Bottom.

Now he finds himself in an ironic situation. His old friends — Joe Rauh, Reinhold Niebuhr, and James Loebe — are trying to persuade him not to run. His old enemies in the business community prefer him to Robert Kennedy or Gene McCarthy. Even many of the southern politicians who booed him for his liberal civil rights stand at the 1948 convention are now working for his nomination. And just when he needs his old pals in the labor union movement, they have lost their wallop.

Even so, anything can happen in this cockeyed campaign. McCarthy is not running strong in the cities, where the Democrats will win or lose the election, yet he is popular enough elsewhere and could knock off Kennedy in Nebraska and a scramble for the race.

Kennedy has a long way to go and the road isn't all through college campuses. The labor leaders do not fancy him; too fancy. Big business still blames him for rough-housing them in the Big Steel controversy. He is poison in the south and alien in the farm belt, or so it seems now.

Maybe Kennedy can change or modify all this as the campaign proceeds, but he starts out with almost as many haters as President Johnson, and while he is the beneficiary of his brother's tragic story, and popular with the young, the Negroes, the Puerto Ricans and the Mexican-Americans, he still has to prove that he can hold and vote the youngsters without losing the middle aged and the middle class.

Also, if the peace talks go reasonably well, Humphrey could regain some of the popularity he lost as Johnson's Vietnam spokesman. The arithmetic of the convention delegates is obviously against him, but unless Kennedy sweeps the primaries he has entered, the convention could be deadlocked. And in a deadlocked convention, Humphrey would still have a chance.

The vague outlines of a strategy for stopping Kennedy are already beginning to appear. It is to work through labor and maybe even the White House to keep Kennedy, already strong in California, New York and New England, from picking up key delegations in such states as Illinois, Ohio, and New Jersey, and meanwhile to have favorite son candidates stand from the southern and as many other states as possible. This is the main hope of a deadlock.

Johnson is the key to a substantial campaign fund raised by the President's clubs around the country, and this, if made available to Humphrey, could help. Humphrey is handicapped by being shut out of most of the primaries, but if Johnson would liberate him and give him a role in the peace negotiations, he would at least have a platform, which is all he needs to display his talents.

Then, of course, there is always the possibility that the voters and even the delegates might put their minds to the question of who among the Democratic candidates has the most experience and would make the best candidate and President, and if this miracle should ever come to pass, Humphrey would certainly not be at the bottom of the list.

Hubert has always been in trouble because he was ahead of his time, but now, for once, he seems to be late and out of luck. He has been punished for playing a role he didn't like and couldn't avoid. He suffers from a political reputation as a glibly left winger and a television smirk that turns off some voters. But don't count old Triple H out. If presidents were elected by the thousand best-informed men in Washington on the basis of who would make the best president, he would be No. 1 at last.

Welfare Recipients March

Outside, in the sweet spring air, the woes and wobbles of more than 500 welfare recipients were being written on the wind. It was hardly a crowd to match the 22,000 school teachers who came to the Capitol plaza three weeks earlier, and none of Harrisburg's elder statesmen showed up either to explain or to appease.

Only two freshmen Negro senators from Philadelphia — Freeman Hanks and Herbert Arlene — mingled with the crowd, asked questions and took notes. Done with the oratory from its leaders, the demonstrators—mostly women in colorful, clean house dresses, and children—dutifully began a mile-long march to the plot where a $2 million governor's mansion is still under construction.

It wasn't clear whether the march was in hopes of seeing the governor, or simply to dramatize the contrasting fortunes of Americans in the last third of the 20th Century.

As the marchers departed, an "official delegation" of 10 peeled off and found its way into ornate, carpeted capitol hearing rooms where Senator George Wade was presiding over Welfare Committee hearings.

The room was packed and warm, and filling the leather chairs were 50 assorted Government officials, their wages ranging between $11,000 to $30,000 annually.

The conversation was calm and reasoned as Welfare Department officials patiently explained to Senator Wade and his colleagues why it will cost $33 million more to run their affairs than it does during the current fiscal year, and $188 million more than it did in 1966-67.

All of this was terribly stuffy for Edward Deputo, one of the 10 "delegates" who, with his wife and six children, lives in a public housing project in Reading.

Would the "delegates" be allowed to testify? Deputo and his friends didn't know. "Don't look like it," said one of the women delegates. "Them' sim-poor gentlemenn."

Deputo, meanwhile, was more than willing to tell his story to somebody. While Welfare officials explained they wanted to raise payments to 90 per cent of the poverty level, Ed Deputo swallowed his pride and paraded his plight along the sidelines to newsmen.

Because of a back injury, Deputo said he has been unable to get work for 18 months. Deputy simply wanted to inform the committee of the inability of eight Deputos to get along on a 70 per cent allotment that amounts to $165.50 biweekly. At 100 per cent they'd be eligible for $238 every two weeks.

"Medication alone is costing me $16 every three weeks, and the food allowance is 65 cents a day per person."

"They pay more than that a day to feed prisoners at State Prisons," Deputy speculated. "It certainly would be cheaper for the State to give us more for our children than to house them in state institutions."

Harrisburg is a city of high-priced lobbyists, and the story of the welfare recipients has a hard time being told, much less heard, in this busy complex of sociologists, bureaucrats and politicians.

Would the "delegates" be allowed to testify? "Who?" Senator Wade wanted to know. "Oh," he continued quickly, "well, if we have time?"

Uptown, meanwhile, the demonstrators watched passively as plumbers and masons pattered around the new Governor's mansion. They visited the rest rooms of a gasoline station across the street and quietly disbanded for their long trek back to Wilkes Barre, Uniontown, Reading and other places where poor people live.

Presidential Opener of Baseball Season Postponed by King's Death

DiMaggio 'Attached' To Kids

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Joe DiMaggio, citing a bunch of eager kids, added full-time coaching duties Friday to his job as vice president of the Oakland Athletics.

"I have become attached to these kids, I have never been around a group so eager to learn," said DiMaggio, who has spent the past five weeks helping the A's with their hitting.

The 53-year-old Hall of Famer previously had gone to spring training as a batting instructor with the New York Yankees, but until this year he hadn't done anything more than that since retiring as a player 17 years ago.

But when the Athletics moved from Kansas City to Oakland—DiMaggio lives in San Francisco—owner Charles O. Finley asked him if he would be a vice president.

Then, while here for an exhibition game against Cincinnati, Finley announced the great Yankee Clipper also would serve as a full-time coach.

"The players and I and the other coaches are very happy about this, and I know that Joe is, too," said Manager Bob Kennedy, adding that DiMaggio will sit with him on the bench and not be on the coaching lines.

DiMaggio said he sees no conflict between his front office duties and his job on the field.

"Bob Kennedy is my boss," he said, "Whatever he wants me to do, I'll do."

Many baseball people were surprised when DiMaggio agreed to go with Finley in the first place. They thought if he ever got back into the game more actively than just as a part-time batting instructor, it would be with the Yankees.

But DiMaggio said the Yankees never offered him a job and the Yankees countered that Joe never had indicated he was willing to return to an active status.

Second Round of Greensboro Open Golf Tourney Rained Out

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Rain washed out Friday's second round of the $137,500 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament, resulting in cancellation of all scores after about half the field had finished.

The second round was rescheduled for today, with two rounds Sunday to make up the lost day.

As a result, Billy Casper and Julius Boros remained for the lead with first round 65s, fashioned Thursday, one stroke ahead of Al Geiberger. When play ended Geiberger had played six holes and was even par for the distance.

Casper is one of 67 early starters who finished before play was suspended and he shot a remarkable rain-soaked 68, three under par for the 7,034-yard Segetfield Country Club course.

It gave him a two-round total of 133 and a two-shot lead over Jack McGowan, whose 66, the best score of the abbreviated play, left him at 135. Arnold Palmer held third place at 136 after a 67.

The postponement was a break for Boros, one of 69 players still on the course when a play was called off after a 40-minute wait.

He had drawn a two-shot penalty by being four minutes late for his 12:48 p.m. tee off time. He joined his group after the others had hit their drives. Had they hit their second shots, he would have been disqualified under PGA rules.

NBA Postpones Playoff Game

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association announced Friday that it will postpone a playoff game scheduled in Boston Sunday "in deference to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King."

The game between the Boston Celtics and Philadelphia 76ers was slated for national television coverage.

An NBA spokesman said the game—the second of the best-of-7 set—was rescheduled in Boston Wednesday, with the third game of the playoff in Philadelphia Friday.

No decision has yet been made, the spokesman said, on a game scheduled in Los Angeles Sunday between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Houston vs. Pittsburgh In Lone Monday Contest

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer The assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King has resulted in the postponement of Monday's traditional Presidential Opener of the baseball season in Washington.

As a result, the Senators will open Tuesday at home against the Minnesota Twins, Camilo Pascual, whose new manager, Jim Lemon, used to help him win games with home runs, will pitch for the home side against the Twins' Dean Chance.

In the National League, Cincinnati, complying with the call of Mayor Eugene Ruehlmann for a "Day of Commitment," postponed its Monday opener against Chicago.

The game will be played either Tuesday or Wednesday, with the Reds expected to pitch Milt Pappas against either Joe Niekro or Rich Nye.

Thus, Houston's night game against Pittsburgh, will be the only major league game on Monday. In that one, the Pirates will go with new pitcher Jim Bunning against the Astros' young Larry Dierker.

There will be seven more openers Tuesday and also a second game in the Pittsburgh-Houston series.

Bob Gibson will do the honors for the world champion St. Louis Cardinals at home against Pat Jarvis of the Atlanta Braves in a night game. The Braves have a problem, finding a leftfielder to take the place of Rico Carty, out with tuberculosis.

Claude Osteen is the choice for the Los Angeles Dodgers in another night game at Dodger Stadium against the Phillies' Chris Short. Manager Gene Mauch still is undecided on whether to start his 20-year-old rookies, shortstop Don Money and center fielder Larry Hise. It all depends on the physical condition of Bobby Wine and Tony Gonzalez. The Dodgers show new faces in shortstop Zoilo Versalles, catcher Tom Haller and right fielder Rocky Colavito.

The only day opener on Tuesday's National League program finds the New York Mets at San Francisco. Juan Marichal will try to get the Giants off winging at Candlestick Park. Tom Seaver, rookie of the year in 1967, will be the opposition.

All four American League openers on Tuesday will be played in the afternoon.

Dick Ellsworth, picked up from the Phillies during the winter, will start for the Red Sox at Detroit where Mayo Smith is leading with his 22-game winning ace, Earl Wilson.

The new Oakland A's will make their bow on the road in Baltimore where Catfish Hunter is due to take on Tom Phoebus, one of the few sound pitchers on Hank Bauer's Orioles staff.

Gary Peters gets the call from Eddie Stanky's new face Chicago White Sox at home against Cleveland. Tommy Davis, Russ Snyder, Luis Aparicio and Tim Lincecum are newcomers (if you can call Aparicio new) who will probably start for the Sox. Alvin Dark, new Cleveland boss, is due to use Sonny Siebert on the mound and will play Tommy Harper and Jose Cardenal, both acquired on trades, in the outfield.

Mel Stottlemyre is the likely starter for the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium against George Brunet of the California Angels.

In addition to Dark, the other new managers who will be making their first appearance include Lemon at Washington, Bob Kennedy at Oakland, Larry Shepard at Pittsburgh, Luman Harris at Atlanta and Gil Hodges with the New York Mets.

Expect Daniels In Lineup PITTSBURGH (AP) — The injured Mel Daniels is expected to be in the Minnesota Muskies lineup tonight when they tangle with the Pittsburgh Pipers in the second game of the American Basketball Association's eastern finals.

Daniels, who had tossed in 28 points, was taken to Mercy Hospital and left the hospital wearing a patch over the eye. He was the high scorer for Muskies. Despite the one-game lead, Pipers coach Vince Cazzetta figures the Pipers must win tonight's game to keep in the running.

"If we split here," said Cazzetta, "then Minnesota will have the edge going into three straight games at Minnesota."

The Muskies, paced by Daniels and Erv Inman, who finished with 26 points, looked like they were going to run away with the game, piling up an early 27-10 lead.

But the Pipers turned it into a torrid running and driving game in the third period, outscoring the Muskies in the period 42-17.

Sports of The Times Arthur Daley Out On a Limb

(C) N.Y. Times News Service NEW YORK — Don't look now but just in back of you a new baseball season is tiptoeing into the starting gate with an uncharacteristic lack of fanfare. At least it is uncharacteristic for New Yorkers, spoiled for generations by the dominating roles, once assumed, in days of old by Yankees, Giants and Dodgers. No longer can New York anticipate at least half or maybe an entire World Series played within its environs. The deflated Yanks and the never inflated Mets are in such states of despair that any post-season play can reach here only by television.

Which ball clubs will make it to the World Series? At this time of year it makes for tantalizing speculation, and tradition has ordained that the fearless forecaster in this space offer his practically unerring predictions. One edge that the baseball expert has on the political expert is that his built-in confusion is not compounded or confounded by dropouts. Ten candidates will start and 10 will finish in each league although a few will be limping along in as much distress as the stragglers in the Boston Marathon.

Not being able to feed data into a computer, the omniscient one will have to rely on guesswork, a system that is neither reliable nor recommended. But we're stuck with it, you and me. Only the American league will be discussed today, the Nationals on the next go-around.

In accordance with a well-established practice, the picks will be made backwards, a tipoff on the convoluted thinking process that's used. However, it does clear away the debris for a clearer look at what's left. There's nothing like starting things off with a shocker, one that almost amounts to sacrilege.

Although the Yankees climbed to ninth from 10th last year, I'm yet to be convinced that they have advanced enough in their painstaking rebuilding operation to keep climbing—or even hold their own. The youthful athletics, hyped by their switch to Oakland, will have the pitching to move to ninth, dumping the Yanks back into the cellar.

The strong managerial hand of Alvin Dark should put order into the hitherto disorderly Indians, lifting them from eighth to seventh while Washington drops back a peg and a half because the Senators wound up last year in a surprising tie for sixth with the unfrocked champions of the world, the Baltimore Orioles.

Bill Rigney did well to finish fifth last year with his California Angels even though he got only 18 complete games out of his pitching staff. He can't get away with it again. Mark him down for sixth.

The squeeze is now starting to be felt. How does one sort out the five first division teams? Not one is a completely solid ball club. Hanging from the hook of each inverted question mark is a flaw that raises doubts and creates uncertainties. Can balanced Boston and Baltimore make it despite dubious pitching? Can Chicago's glittering mound staff be as effective in the light of trades that shifted some emphasis from defense to offense? Can Detroit find the bullpen help it needs to support the good but thin first-line troops? Can disension-riddled Minnesota fill that yawning hole at shortstop? If a guy had the right answers, he could pick with confidence. I don't have them but will have to guess.

The Red Sox won last year because Carl Yastrzemski and Jim Lonborg and the rest of the cast had exceptional seasons. But Lonborg tore knee ligaments in a stupid skiing accident and Tony Conigliaro has not wholly recovered from his beating of last August. The hunch here is that the Fenway Millionaires will drop back to fifth.

Comiskey Park in Chicago is so roomy that slick defense pays off heavier there than anywhere else. The White Sox have taken a calculated one-year gamble by reinforcing their hitting at the expense of their fielding. Opinion in Florida was divided. Some experts thought the Chicks had helped themselves and others thought the trades had hurt. I think they were hurt and pick them fourth.

The Twins should have won a year ago but couldn't stem Boston's invincible rush at the end. They have strengthened their bullpen and their catching with the interleague deal with the Dodgers. But they still need a class shortstop. Mark them third. Let's see. That leaves Baltimore and Detroit.

Injuries to key men and an inconsistent relief corps checked the Tigers last season. They wouldn't need much to take it all. A year ago I picked them to win. This time I'll settle for second.

The Orioles swept the 1966 World Series and a sore arm plague knocked them down into a tie for sixth. Almost every member of the squad went into a decline last year. But Hank Bauer has reshaped his pitching staff and is entitled to expect a rebounding surge in the forthcoming season.

So here's the order as it looks from here: Baltimore, Detroit, Minnesota, Chicago, Boston, California, Cleveland, Washington, Oakland and New York. No guarantees, though. If you accept them, the risk is yours.

Warren High Faculty Nips Beaty, 53-51

The Warren Area High School faculty managed a six point lead in the first quarter of last night's Dragon Varsity Club sponsored basketball contest between the faculties of Warren High and Beaty Junior High which carried them to victory over Beaty 53-51.

The victory came behind the power of two prominent Dragon instructors. "Eagle Eye Eggelston" and "Beason without Reason," netting 15 victory points apiece.

The WAHS faculty captured an early 12-6 lead in the first stanza and relied on these six points for the victory. The Beaty Fac' managed to outscore Warren in the three remaining periods, but the margin was too slim to make the difference.

Beaty's biggest period was the second when they pulled a 15-13 tupper over Warren. However, it wasn't enough to go ahead as Warren entered the locker room still holding a 25-21 lead.

Beaty then managed a point gain in the third and fourth quarters on scores of 16-15 and 14-13 respectively, but Warren High's lead stood firm and the Dragon faculty again triumphed over Beaty.

Beaty's top scorer was "Sly Gray Fox Randa," who scored 15 points on seven field goals and one foul shot while "Foul 'em Passmore" was second netting six field goals for 12 points. The only other cager in double figures was Warren's "No Miss Isackson" who collected 11.

With the contest ended for another year, both faculties can merely "talk it up" 'til the two meet again.

Stateline Speedway Plans Season Opening on May 11th

BY DAN PRATZ

SUGAR GROVE — The roar of the engines rounding the oval is just a little over a month away. It was formally announced by Busti Speedway's Inc. that automobile racing for the 1968 season would get underway at Stateline Speedway May 11 and at Ertex Speedway May 12. Despite efforts to boycott the tracks by a movement of discontented drivers, the Speedways announce that 35 late model entries alone have registered.

Both Speedways will be running a 14 race program with three feature events each night. The new division added to the already existing Late Models and Sportsman classes will be the Hooligans or "novice" drivers. Late Model cars for this season must range in the 1965-68 years. The Sportsman have been limited to a 1955-1963 year range and the Hooligans may range from 1955-61.

Woolsey Sets Track Record

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A 4:03.3 mile by Brian Woolsey of Texas and a 13:23.1 three miles by Kearney Pearce, the Australian running for Texas of El Paso, pulled the Texas Relays out of the doldrums Friday night.

It was the fastest Woolsey ever had run the event and it wiped out the Texas Relays University-College Division record by 6.8 seconds. John Camlen of Emporia, Kan., State set it at 4:09.9 in 1967.

Pearce had the best three-mile time in the nation this year to furnish the lagging Relays their first big punch.

It wasn't the fastest mile ever run in the Texas Relays since Wes Santee of Kansas did 4:00.5 in 1955. But Santee's record was in the Jerry Thompson open mile. Woolsey's record was in the University-College Division.

Pearce, who recently set a world's indoor two-mile record of 8:27.2, was hanging up the first new mark of the big track and field carnival.

Previously Jim Hines, the former Texas Southern sprinter who holds a share of the 100-yard world's record at 9.1, made four false starts then blazed a 9.5 in a special 100-yard dash.

The feature event of Friday night's session of the massive Relays was somewhat disappointing to the fans since there were six false starts.

Coach Allen Frustrated; His Team Can't Practice

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — What do you do with an ice hockey team which has lost its offense? Practice, you say.

"We can't practice," said coach Keith Allen of the stone cold Philadelphia Flyers. "We haven't got any ice."

That's right, the ice is gone, and in its place is a basketball floor placed there for last night's National Basketball Association eastern final playoff between Philadelphia and Boston.

The Flyers took only 14 shots on goal Thursday night as they lost 1-0 to the St. Louis Blues and blew their home ice advantage in the best of seven Stanley Cup semifinal West Division playoffs in the National Hockey League.

Defenseman Larry Zeidel said the Flyers were overcautious. "We kept standing around waiting for George to do it," said Zeidel. Only George wasn't there as he hasn't been in the West champion's last dozen games.

True, the Flyers had to play 21 of their last 24 games on the road when the Spectrum lost its lid. But who put the lid on the goal net?

Allen is frustrated. He just doesn't know what happened to the team which built a fat lead in the West, then all but blew it in a backsliding final month.

"We showed about as much offense as my kid's team," said the Flyers' coach Friday. "Our defense has been non-existent for the last four or five games."

Erie's Tom will also race a '68 Camaro this year. Sixty-eight Chevies will be the machines Johnny Whitehead and Fred Knapp make their bid in this season.

Trying out something different will be Jim Scott and Marty Rater in '68 Ford and Sammy Lamancuso in his '68 Dodge Dart GT.

One of the most interesting entries will be a '68 Mercury Montego driven by a new-comer John Mason.

The Sportsman field will again be dominated by the five top drivers from last year, Ron Blackmer, Lyle Brown, Jim Sloan, Skip Furlow and Jim Ruhlman.

A complete program of events isn't available at this time but it should include an extra race for July 4 and several other big purse events.

The goals for the losing teams also played well — Gerry Cheevers for Boston, Bernie Parent for Philadelphia, Cesare Maniago for Minnesota and Denis DeJordy for Chicago.

It's perhaps significant that with the big money on the line — $7,500 to each member of the Cup-winning team — experience counted for more than youth.

Claude Provost, playing in Cup competition for the 13th year, scored the winning goal for Montreal with little more than five minutes left in the game. Henri Richard, who also played his first post season game in 1958, scored the other Canadiens' goal. Young Ken Hodge registered for Boston.

Provost scored by deflecting a point shot by defenseman Ted Harris. "I got my stick on the puck just in time," Provost said. "I've missed those kinds of shots hundred of times, but this time I was lucky."

Jim Roberts, who had four years of Cup competition with Montreal, scored the winner for St. Louis with 5:47 left to play. He took a pass from Gary Sabourin and slammed the puck past Parent from about 12 feet out.

"It was a last-minute thing," Parent said. "Roberts just put his stick there and I didn't see the puck until it was over my shoulder."

Dave Balon, another former Canadian, had the only goal for the North Stars. It was offset, though, by earlier tallies by the Kings' Ed Joly and Bill White. Veterans Harry Howell, Orland Kurtenbach and Rod Gilbert scored for the Rangers while Pierre Pilote, another vet, had Chicago's only goal.

Pirates Trip Yankees 6-2

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates exploded for four runs on six hits off Fred Talbot in the first inning and went on to beat the New York Yankees 6-2 Friday in exhibition baseball. Jose Pagan tripled and Matty Alou doubled home two runs in the Pittsburgh first. Willie Stargell homered for the Pirates in the second, and Bill Mazeroski hit one for the final Pittsburgh run in the third.

Bob Cox singled in a run in the fifth and Bill Robinson homered in the seventh for the Yankees. Both runs came off Ron Kline, who came on in place of Bob Veale in the fifth.

West Virginia Withdraws From League

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Dr. James G. Harlow, president of West Virginia University, announced Friday that the university will withdraw from the Southern Conference at the end of the current academic year.

Dr. Harlow said Athletic Director Robert N. Brown informed conference Commissioner Lloyd P. Jordan of the decision.

Harlow gave these reasons for the withdrawal:

1. "Travel distances between WVU and other member institutions resulted in scheduling difficulties in many sports and prevented the development of natural rivalries in athletics."

2. "West Virginia University is the only large publicly supported institution that belongs to the Southern Conference."

Harlow said, "West Virginia University takes this step with regret because of its warm association with the Southern Conference since WVU became a member of 1950."

Derby Fans Keep Eyes On Clover Foot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS With the Kentucky Derby only four weeks away, Clover Foot will be center of racing attention Saturday in the $100,000, added Governor's Gold Cup at Bowie.

Winner of five straight sprint stakes, the colt will be going more than seven furlongs for the first time in the rich 1 1/16-mile test. He will be opposed by 14 other 3-year-olds in the richest race ever at the Maryland track.

If the speedy colt, owned by Mrs. Bernard P. Bond and trained by her husband, passes the test he will probably become the favorite for the Louisville classic of 1 1/4 miles.

Kentucky Derby hopefuls also will be tested in the $25,000, added Gold Rush Stakes at Golden Gate Fields.

Kaul King won the Governor's Gold Cup in 1966, the last time it was held, and followed with victories in the Derby and Preakness. The Bonds are hoping to duplicate this with Clover Foot, a 7-5 choice in the morning line.

With 15 starters, the winner of the cavalry charge would earn $78,065 of the $120,000 purse.

Grand Valley & Sanford News

By JOYCE L. BROWN Wednesday, April 10 will be Ladies Aid at Mrs. Phoebe Allen's home. This will be "birthday aid" for the members having birthdays during March, April and May.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Allen, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Litzinger, drove to Waterford, where they were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCellan.

The telephones were out of order in the Grand Valley area on Monday.

W.S.W.S. was held Monday evening at Grand Valley church Fellowship Hall, with 10 ladies present. Mrs. Alice Vroman was leader and Mrs. Ella Gates hostess. The table for lunch was extremely attractive, being decorated in Easter motif by the hostess, who also served a delicious lunch. Plans were made for the Mother and Daughter Banquet. This is an annual project of the W.S.W.S. and is to be held at Wesley Woods Camp dining hall on May 13. There will be more about this later.

Mrs. Erna Obrok will be in charge of decorations and the program will be about Japan. There was a birthday party for Ronnie Holcomb at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall on Friday evening.

Guests were Mrs. Anne Moronski, Mrs. Winnie Johnson, who had also worked at Wesley Woods with Ronnie last summer.

Mrs. Lois Moravek spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Pierce. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce took her home on Sunday afternoon.

Last Saturday evening a party was given at the Danielson home by Miss Barbara Danielson and Miss Mollie Ristau of Warren for their aunt, Miss Marilyn Danielson, also of Warren, who leaves next Saturday for Germany to be married.

There were 16 ladies (relatives and friends) present.

Mrs. Erna Obrok is to be delegate on Wednesday to the annual Girl Scout convention which is to be held at Erie this year. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Ila Moronski.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kelly of Erie called on Mrs. Alice Rykeman and Mr. and Mrs. William Ellis on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Alice Rykeman is visiting in Jamestown Tuesday and Wednesday this week.

Last Wednesday, callers of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall were Mr. and Mrs. George Kirkwood, Bonnie and Mike of Tylersburg, and Mr. Richard Barger of Callensburg.

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall called on Mr. and Mrs. James Marshall of Tidioute.

HISTORY OF TIDIOUTE

Pioneer White Collar Men

BY LOIS McCLOSKEY

Not all of our pioneer men were working in the woods, running saw mills, drilling or shipping oil or floating rafts down the Allegheny river prior to 1900.

In the Historical Atlas of Warren County which takes the county up to the year 1875 we find a total of 105 persons listed in the Deerfield (Tidioute) business directory. The huge atlas is in our Tidioute Library and may be consulted but not removed. It has many old Tidioute homes pictured, many are in color and all are hand drawn. Among the most interesting items in the book is a folded, hand drawn map of Tidioute with family names or names of business houses listed for the whole town. Later we hope to be able to compile this listing so that readers may be able to locate the oldest homes here.

It is a tremendous task to find authentic records of many of our early homes as well as of the people who lived in them. At present we are reading six newspaper clip books from the old Maile home now owned and occupied by Mrs. Spates Brady. How we do wish that then as well as the present, events bore the year as well as the month and day. As an example, in an obituary it usually stated the person's birth date and age at the time, but it is difficult to determine the exact year of the death. Also none of the clips have the year penned on the clip.

We know our Tidioute readers are interested in this series of articles from the many calls and personal talks and we hear that many clips are going to relatives out of town.

This week we have a most interesting correction about the A. Dunn family mentioned last week. Mr. Dunn's second son was Harry who became a doctor in Erie. He had three sons Harry Jr., Robert and David who is now a surgeon in Erie.

To correct what I said about Robert Dunn building the house which his widow Mrs. Belle Dunn still occupies at 9 Elm st., I learned from her brother Lisle Peters who also resides there, that the house was built in 1862 by a Mr. Demming who lived there a number of years. He wanted his son to become a doctor but did not have funds to send him to college. Mr. A. Dunn loaned him the money with the understanding that it would be paid back. Although the son did become a doctor, the loan was not paid, but in its place, Mr. Demming gave his home to Mr. Dunn as payment.

Heading the 1875 white collar list are three attorneys at law: G.W. Allen, C. C. Thompson and W. P. Findley with rooms in the National Hotel and Allen and Thompson. To date we have been unable to trace G. W. Allen but we do find that a Scott Allen owned a harness shop here in 1878 later taken over by an A. Allen in 1885. A C. A. Allen is listed as having been in the Grandin brick building. There also was a People's Savings Bank in 1872 which closed after about eight years. Elliot Curtis, brother of Mrs. Fred (Harriet) Shaw, became a bookkeeper in the Grandin Banking House in 1866 and cashier in 1870. John Hunter was one of the original stockholders of Tidioute Savings.

Even in those early days the town had a florist, Fred Meyers with flowers for all occasions and wedding a specialty.

Fortnightly Has Night of Games

The Fortnightly Club which met at the home of Mrs. Paul Craft Monday, April 1, at 8 p.m. was without a program due to the necessary cancellation of a hair coloring demonstration scheduled for that date.

Quite appropriate as an April Fooler, the 16 women in attendance found themselves putting grains of corn on numbers on a card. This of course turned out to be several fast moving games of bingo with the winners getting April Fool prizes. Hostesses along with Mrs. Craft were Mrs. Calvin Montgomery and Mrs. Kenneth Williams.

The April 15 meeting will be at the home of the Club secretary, Mrs. Carl Thomas. At this time all committees will give their annual reports. Hostesses with Mrs. Thomas are to be Mrs. Calvin Montgomery Jr., and Mrs. Hazel Robertson.

ing a general furnishing goods store here in 1886, as yet no record of Findley.

Of the early Thompsons we find a John Thompson who came here in 1817 and ran a tavern east of town. He had three children whose names are not listed. He died in 1830. A Robert Thompson ran the Dunn's Eddy tavern in 1879. He left four sons, James A. Nelson, G. Canby and Harry Dale. In the old Tidioute Cemetery is the grave of a Robert L. Thompson who died in 1851. Also a David Thompson came to Tidioute in 1865 to produce oil and in 1874 he had a general merchandise store in town, retiring in 1884. His wife was Charlotte Kinnear, daughter of James Kinnear.

Mrs. C. A. Lewis is the only business woman listed. She was a fashionable milliner. Other early milliners were a Mrs. Burgess who had a millinery shop in the old Sam Nichols building, in what was once the health clinic. Her assistant was a Frank Colman who, from all historical records, was one of the town's gay young bachelors of the era. He also wrote many flowery items for the Tidioute paper when C. E. White was editor and owner. Of particular interest are his writings of commencement exercises in the Grandin Opera House.

A Mrs. Cartney whose millinery store and home was right next to the Grandin brick building was another early business woman, as were milliners Miss Sarah Corl and Mrs. Florence Donaldson Owens. Another early milliner was a Mrs. Thompson whose shop stood just east of the Tidioute Hotel. Both this shop and the Cartney house have long since been razed. Miss Corl's shop was in the present McKown barber shop.

The earliest photographer listed is D. W. Baldwin but another pioneer was C. A. Ferris whose name is on a photograph of my father taken in 1891 when he was 20 years old. A Mr. Binder was about the next photographer. His first wife was a Dinsmore and his second a Miss Williams, sister of the late Arthur Williams. Binders first studio was in the Goodwin building, later he lived in the house until recently owned by the Wm. Christy heirs.

Bankers and employees are as follows: J.L. Grandin and W.J. Grandin bank owners; T. B. Monks, cashier of the People's Bank; M.P. Getchell, president Tidioute Savings Bank and A. W. Couss, cashier of same; Henry Evans was a bookkeeper in the same bank in 1871.

The first listed bank in Tidioute was the Wadsworth, Baum and Co., later it became Grandin and Baum and then the Grandin Brothers Bank. It was housed in the Grandin brick building.

There also was a People's Savings Bank in 1872 which closed after about eight years. Elliot Curtis, brother of Mrs. Fred (Harriet) Shaw, became a bookkeeper in the Grandin Banking House in 1866 and cashier in 1870. John Hunter was one of the original stockholders of Tidioute Savings.

Kindergarten Registration

According to the report of the large turnout for next year's kindergarten it looks as if we will again have two sessions. There were 34 pre-school youngsters registered at the Tuesday session. Anyone who has cared for a child who is between four and five years of age, knows that it would be impossible for one teacher to keep an eye on this number of agile youngsters. At the present time we are unable to give the names of next year's teachers.

Baptist Women Have Good Turnout

The Baptist Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Arthur King on Tuesday, April 2 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Willard McKay led devotions. At this time the group is studying the women of the Bible. Mrs. Krug Cyphert gave a book review on Eve, the first woman, followed by the business meeting in charge of Mrs. Glenn Barton. The remainder of the evening was spent in working on an afghan which is almost completed and in cutting blocks for a second afghan. The May 7 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Glenn Barton.

Tidioute Men In Service

For a town of the size of Tidioute, we have been and still are well represented in the armed services. Some of the men have finished their present duty, some are home on leave and many still are at the scene of action. From time to time we hope to keep you informed as to what our young men are doing in the service of our Country.

Perhaps the largest number of men from one family are the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Downey, Limestone township, Rte. 62. Paul Downey who enlisted in the Marines three years ago and served in Cuba and Vietnam was discharged in 1967. Since then he has undergone a serious heart operation from which he has recovered. In Dec. 1967 he was married and now lives near his father and mother.

Sp. 4 Bill Downey, an army combat engineer was in Taym, Vietnam until July 5, 1967. On return to the U.S.A. he was stationed at Fort Hood, Texas where he completed his enlistment, Feb. 14, 1968. He is now employed at National Forge.

Jack Downey is still in service, but home on a 30-day leave. As Sp. 5, E Company, 704 Battalion, he has been in Pellico, Vietnam for 18 months. After his leave, he will return to Vietnam for another six months at which time he will complete his enlistment.

Sp. 5 Paul Matie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Matie, Tidioute, R.D. 1, was in the army second division, and was stationed in Korea as a tank driver. He was there 13 months and has now finished his enlistment, and is presently working for Franklin Steel.

Sgt. Kenneth Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Campbell Hill road was with Matie in Korea, has also completed his enlistment and has been home for about two months.

David Morrison U.S. Navy 2nd Class, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Morrison, Second st., saw service in Scotland, Cuba and Hawaii. He worked on submarines and repaired ships. He returned home July 30, 1967.

Master Sgt. James Wolford, served in the army in Korea for 14 months. At present he is home on a 30 day leave, he will then go to Oeltha, Kansas, to study radar mechanics.

Sp. 5 John (Jack) Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jacobs, 6 Elm st., was with the Army in Germany for two years as a micro-wave radio maintenance man. Prior to going to Germany, Jacobs had his training in Fort Monmouth, N.J. for eight months. He is presently enrolled at the University of Pittsburgh at its Titusville campus, having completed his enlistment with the Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wolford of Main st., have two sons in service with the Marines. Sgt. Dennis Wolford is now at Khe-Sahn serving as Sgt. of 81-millimeter guns with 28 men under him. He enlisted in Aug. 1967, hopes to be home for a 30 day leave in August. His enlistment ends in July of 1969.

Pfc. Ralph Wolford, also a Marine, is stationed at Beaufort Air Wing in South Carolina. He arrived home this week for a 12-day leave. He has been in service one year with three months to serve to the end of his present enlistment.

Airman James B. Larimer, who enlisted Jan. 22, 1968, is now going to jet mechanics school at Chanute, Illinois. He is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Larimer of 99 Main st. Airman 1st Class William McGraw, also in the Air Force is studying radio communications at Riverside, Calif. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William McGraw of 7 Kinnear st.

--- The Magazine Serving Kinzua Country

ON THE COVER

This is "Dumplin'" To know her is to love her. A 50 pound, three-year-old English Bulldog owned by Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Townsend, 119 Main ave., Warren, Dumplin' on the 28th day of February became a mother. A milestone in the Warren area, according to Mrs. Townsend, the litter of seven puppies (only five survived) are the first pure bred English Bulldog pups born in the Warren area for nearly 30 years. The story of Dumplin' and her puppies appears in today's edition of Allegheny.

SOCIAL Wanderings by Marion Honhart

A 7 O'CLOCK DINNER WILL BE SERVED to members of the Beaty Junior High School teaching staff, their wives and husbands, at the Driftwood in Jamestown this evening. About sixty-five will be in the group. Arrangements for the affair were made by the Beaty Faculty social committee under the chairmanship of Miss Ruth Ann McKinney. Plans are also under way for another social event to be held later in the year at the Cross Creek Country Club . . . This will be an afternoon of golf, with a smorgasbord served in the evening. The date has not yet been announced.

WOMAN'S CLUB BRIDGE this Thursday had three tables in play, with the average score of 20. Honors went to the following: First - Mrs. William Petre and Miss Felicia Lucia, 25; Second - Mrs. Arthur DeLuca and Mrs. Shurl Glass, 23½; Third, Mrs. J. P. Valone and Miss Judy Valone, 22½. There will be no game this coming week.

THE YWCA YOUNG ADULT COMMITTEE is forming a new club for girls between the ages of 17 and 25. The club is to be for unmarried girls and childless married women. The first informal meeting will be on Tuesday, April 9th, at 8 p. m. in the YWCA. Programs will be discussed and future meeting dates worked out by those who are present. All who are interested, but find it impossible to attend this initial meeting, call the YWCA at 723-6350 and register.

THE MAKING OF EASTER BASKETS is to be the highlight of the Monday evening meeting of the Pre-School Child Study Group and guests at 8:30 in the hospitality room of Northwest Savings & Loan. The baskets are to be given to children whose names have been presented. Darlene Hensell, case worker for the Family Service and Children's Aid Society, will give an outline of the work done by the organization. All members are asked to bring 50 cents to help cover expenses for the planned reunion in May. The evening will conclude, on Monday, with the serving of refreshments by Mrs. Thomas Anderson, assisted by Mrs. Frank Stroker, Mrs. Robert Larson and Mrs. James Eldridge.

Holy Week Noonday Speaker The Rev. Joseph L. Leckie

The Rev. Joseph L. Leckie, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Titusville, will speak at the Union Holy Week Services, sponsored by the Warren Ministerial Association. The services will be held from 12:05 to 12:30 in the First Baptist Church, Monday through Thursday.

The Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs have been invited to attend in a body on their respective meeting days.

Mr. Leckie, a Scotsman, first came to this country in 1964 when he entered into a summer exchange of pastorates with the Rev. William Parsons of Lewisburg, Pa. The pulpit nominating committee of the Titusville Church heard Mr. Leckie preach and invited him to become pastor of that church. Mr. Leckie and his family moved to Titusville in the spring of 1965.

Mr. Leckie attended a preparatory school in Edinburgh, Scotland. He received his B.A. and M.A. degrees at Oxford University and his theological training at New College, Edinburgh.

Mr. Leckie served for five years in the British Army in Israel, Egypt, Jordan and India, attaining the rank of Captain.

He was ordained to the ministry in 1956 and did extension work in West Scotland where a church was established and 680 members were received in four years. For three years he did missionary work in British Guiana, serving as pastor of a city church and Moderator of 14 rural charges.

REV. JOSEPH L. LECKIE

At the completion of his work in British Guiana he became pastor of a church near Edinburgh, Scotland (Carriden).

Mr. Leckie will speak on the following topics: Monday, "The Barren Fig Tree"; Tuesday, "Peter's Denial"; Wednesday, "Judas"; Thursday, "Nevertheless".

Mrs. J. Preston Briggs will be the organist.

1st Salem Confirmation Tomorrow

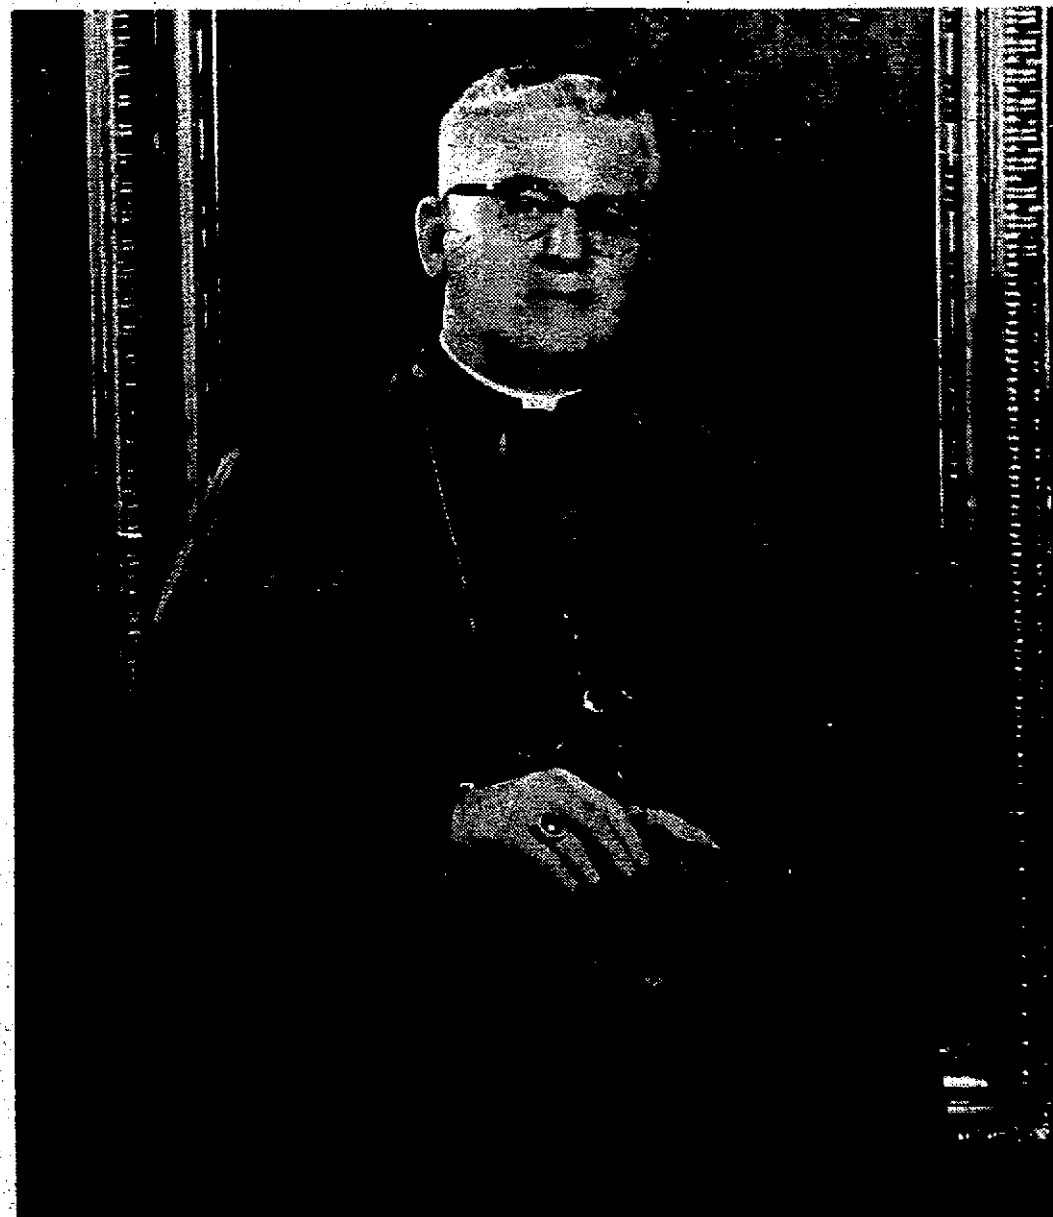

At the Worship Service on Palm Sunday, the following young people will be received into membership by Confirmation: Craig Lord, Jane Marti, Susan Marti, Timothy Marti, Jeffrey Sedon.

On Saturday, the catechumens will make a trip to the various Evangelical United Brethren Churches in the Warren-Jamestown district.

For the morning service tomorrow, Miss Ruth Ackert, organist, will play for the prelude "The Palms" by Faure, and for the offertory "Marche Triomphal" by Johnston. The choir, under the direction of Ray Marti, will sing the anthem "Send Out Thy Light and Thy Truth" by Kuntler.

On Maundy Thursday at 7:30 a Candle Light Communion will be held.

THE MOST REV. ALFRED WATSON, D.D.

First Area Ecumenical Service Tomorrow Evening

The Sheffield community Palm Sunday service at 5 p.m., April 7, 1968, in the 1st Methodist Church, to which the public is invited, will be a landmark of ecumenical fellowship.

The public worship service is jointly sponsored by St. Michael's Greek Catholic Church, Methodist Church and St. Anthony and St. Clara Roman Catholic Churches.

The sermon will be delivered by the Most Reverend Alfred Watson D.D., Auxiliary Bishop of the Erie Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church.

Participating in the service are the Rev. Jack Boyd, pastor Sheffield 1st Methodist and Barnes Methodist Churches; Pastor Carl E. Eliason, of Bethany Lutheran Church and Moriah Lutheran Church in Ludlow; the Rev. Father Julius Kubinyi, pastor St. Michael's Greek Catholic Church; and the Rev. Father John T. Carter, pastor St. Anthony and St. Clara Roman Catholic Churches.

The 99-voice Sheffield High School Choir will sing two anthems: "O Sacred Head," and "Palm Branches," under direction of Marlene Spald. Charles S. Young is organist.

The Rev. Jack Boyd will give the invocation.

The Rev. Fr. John T. Carter will read the Epistle--1 John 4:7-21.

Pastor Carl E. Eliason will read the Gospel--John 16:31-17:26.

The Litany will be led by the Rev. Fr. Julius Kubinyi.

The blessing will be given by all four Pastors.

All are invited to attend a social hour and refreshments in the social rooms of the church after the service.

Bishop Watson is widely known in this region. His first appointment following his ordination to the priesthood in May, 1934, was to the Holy Redeemer Parish in Warren, as acting pastor for six months during the illness of the Rev. Edward P. Short. He also served at St. Callistus in Kane.

The Most Rev. Alfred M. Watson D. D. was born in Erie on July 11, 1907, son of the late Thomas and Catherine Fahey Watson.

and theology at St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore, Maryland, and was ordained by Archbishop Gannon in St. Peter's Cathedral in Erie on May 10, 1934. He sang his first Mass on Sunday, May 13, 1934, in the same Cathedral.

As a young priest he served for a short period of time as interim pastor of Holy Redeemer Parish, Warren, following the death of one of its pastors.

In 1936 he was selected as Secretary to the Bishop of Erie, a post he held for a year, until his assignment as professor of religion and philosophy at Mercyhurst College.

He also did graduate work in economics and labor relations at Catholic University of America in Washington. On August 1, 1941, he was appointed to the faculty of Cathedral Prep. During the next seven years he served as assistant headmaster, teaching English, religion and social studies.

In 1948 he succeeded the late Bishop McManaman as rector of the Cathedral. His assignment to this post came in recognition of his devotion to the Bishop's educational program.

Bishop Watson also served many years at St. George's parish. He also holds the distinction of being the first native son of the Cathedral parish to be appointed to the rectorship.

Pope Pius XII named him a Right Reverend Monsignor in 1953. Pope John XXIII named him a Prothonotary Apostolic in 1963.

Since August 21, 1964 he has been vicar general of the Diocese of Erie.

On June 29, 1965, he was consecrated Auxiliary Bishop of Erie and Titular Bishop of Naxos. He is presently Vicar General of the Diocese and Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral.

Assembly Of God Youth Convention

Members of the Christ's Ambassadors Youth Group of the Assembly of God Church this next week, April 11 and 12, will attend the annual C. A. Convention at the Harrisburg Farm Show.

The members of the Assembly of God Sunday School at 409 Jackson Run Road, are now on a "Safari For Christ," the theme for their enlargement campaign. The Safari ends on Easter Sunday.

Pittsfield Holy Week Services

Special Holy Week Services will be held in Pittsfield EUB Church beginning tomorrow, Palm Sunday morning at 9:30. Dr. Glenn E. Donelson, superintendent of Erie Conference of the EUB Church, will be guest speaker for the day. The choir will furnish special numbers and Communion of the Lord's Supper will be observed. Opportunity for baptism of adults and dedication of children will be offered.

The evening service at 7:30 will be preceded by the Youth Fellowship meeting at 6:30 under the leadership of James Clark. The Youth group will sing and bring their testimonies at the 7:30 p.m. service and Dr. Donelson will bring the message.

Services each night through the week will begin at 7:30 p.m. On Monday and Tuesday evenings the Rev. Mr. M. Watson, pastor of Lander Methodist Church will be the speaker.

Wednesday through Sunday evenings the Rev. Mr. Jack Marshall, former director of Youth for Christ in Jamestown, N.Y., and who has done missionary work in both Japan and Brazil, South America, will be our speaker. He is now pursuing special training in Fort Wayne, Ind. and will return to Japan soon. Jack, as all who know him usually address him, is possessed of a fine tenor voice and sings the gospel movingly. He comes of a family of preachers. His father is now pastor of the Baptist Church in Brockton, N.Y. and his three brothers are ministers. His fine Christian experience, his complete dedication, his good education, Bible training, and missionary experience, make his ministry deeply interesting, and his inspiring Bible messages are fruitful of conversions among all age groups.

Easter Sunday, at 6 a.m., the Youth group under the leadership of Jim Clark, will hold a sunrise service on Pulver Hill just South East of Pittsfield to which all are invited.

A warm invitation is extended to everyone to attend these Holy Week Services.

College Of Regents Meet

The College of Regents, Women of the Moose, met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Esther O'Dell. Marian Root was in charge of the business session during which the following plans were made:

Bake Sale at the Jamesway Store on Friday, May 24; annual dinner at Jackson Valley on Thursday evening, May 9, 7 o'clock; College of Regents chapter night, Wednesday, July 10, at 8 o'clock, in the Lodge rooms.

After the business meeting was concluded, the evening was spent in playing "500." Prizes went to Vera Petrowski, Laota Minnich and Carrie Maeder.

File this recipe for Sherried Onion Soup under the heading, "Sure Rave Winner." In a saucepan, combine 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed onion soup, 1 soup can water, 1 large clove garlic, minced, ½ cup cooked peas, and 1 tablespoon sherry. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell me something about second marriages. Do they always turn out better than the first?

In the past few years at least a dozen couples of our acquaintance have been divorced and married again. My dear husband is forever pointing out that the Second-Time Arounders seem to be blissfully content. He frequently mentions how enthralled Ronald Reagan is with his Nancy, how delighted Henry Ford is with his Christine and how happy Governor Rockefeller is with his Happy.

My husband is nearly 50. Is he trying to tell me something? Do second marriages really work out better than the first try?

—STILL NUMBER ONE

DEAR ONE: Some do. Some don't. Statistics show that a great many couples who don't stick with the first mate don't stick with the second one, either.

If the unhappily-marrieds would work half as hard at pleasing the original spouse as they do attracting a second one they might have a very good marriage indeed.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Five months ago my 18-year-old daughter made the foolish mistake of running off and marrying a service man who was stationed near here.

Today I received a letter that made me sick. Her husband is out of the service and they moved to Akron to live with his mother. She is a widow who lives in a two-bedroom home with 17 cats. The woman has one bedroom and the cats have the other. My daughter and her husband sleep on the living room sofa which opens up into a bed. They have no closet for their clothes, no drawer space and already the woman has told my daughter she cannot walk into the kitchen except to eat (there is no dining room) because the kitchen is HERS.

My daughter says they have no privacy and she feels like a prisoner. When she complained to her husband he said, "This is my home. If you don't like it you can leave."

The girl asked for my advice. What shall I tell her?—SICK

DEAR SICK: The girl is asking for your advice a little late. Now the problem must be settled by her and her husband. I hope you haven't rented her room because it sounds to me as if you are going to get your daughter back.

IRMA PUTANKO Circle Eight Goes To Camp Blue Jay

Last Saturday night nine couples of the Warren Circle 8 Square Dance Club shared their hobby of square dancing with the Blue Jay corpsmen in the Center gymnasium.

After a brief demonstration of square dancing routines, corpsmen were encouraged to participate and instructed in the art of dancing.

Club members said they would be looking forward to another evening of activity at Blue Jay in the near future.

How the corpsmen reacted to this new experience could be summarized in the statement of the corpsman who said, "I'm glad I stayed at the Center this weekend. I never knew square dancing could be so much fun."

Lung cancer is the leading cause of cancer death in males today, says the American Cancer Society. You help research when you support the April Crusade.

Jehovah's Witnesses Going To Assembly At Chautauqua

Mr. Theodore Smith, presiding minister of the Warren congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, reminded the local Witnesses this week of their invitation to attend the three day assembly at the Chautauqua Fairgrounds, Dunkirk, N.Y., April 26-28.

Mr. Smith urged the congregation to be sure their children attend this assembly, "because the information they will receive will be too valuable for them to miss. If little children are able to learn the complex languages of their parents, they are able to learn the pure language of the Bible. You want them to grow up on a spiritual diet that is capable of turning them into mature Christian men and women. Take them with you so they will benefit by your good example," concluded Mr. Smith.

Twenty different departments are being set up to operate the convention. From the Warren congregation, among those volunteering are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peterson, Mr. Theodore Smith, Mrs. Effie Springer, Mrs. Lloyd Helm and Mrs. Kenneth Gibson.

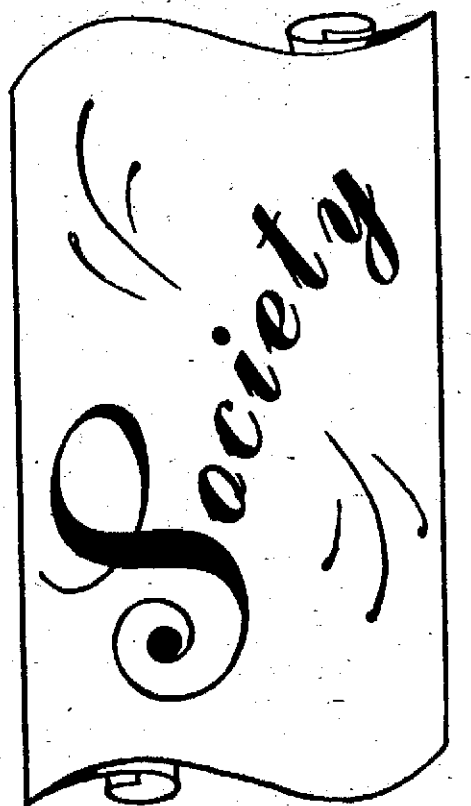

A baptism of new ministers will be held on Saturday, April 27, at 2 p.m. The climax of the assembly will be on Sunday at 3 p.m. when L. R. Beda, district supervisor of congregations, will speak on the subject, "Why Does God Permit Wickedness?"

Bride-Elect Sets September Date

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

By HOWARD JARVIS

Thoughts of Easter Sunday, which is almost here, remind us of the long road traveled to Calvary, with its magnificent example of sorrow and sacrifice.

But we're also moved to think of the end of that road . . . and the glorious triumph of Easter Sunday morning. Small wonder that Easter is such a day of joy and celebration!

The annual Easter Parade is a traditional part of our holiday, when we all come out decked out in our very best. Is your family all ready for inspection? If our experience is any indication, we'll bet the average mother has thoughtfully picked out her Easter outfit and has it ready . . . clean and sparkling if it's not brand new. And she has the children's clothes all ready. But what about Dad? Men had a tendency to take the Easter fashion parade a little lightly . . . but Dad will be on display, too.

There's not much time left, but we can still give that suit a thorough cleaning and pressing in time for Easter. For Mother, Dad and the whole family, rely on our fast, dependable service . . . to be sure!

JARVIS CLEANERS

RECREATION AND CRAFTS PERIOD

Fifty-three members of the United Presbyterian Youth Club of North Warren attended the meeting this week which included periods of study; choir rehearsal for a part in the Easter service; beginners knitting; fly-tying; and the making of Chrismons. Games of ping pong, shuffle board, balloon volley ball were enjoyed in the recreation period. A dinner of creamed chicken on biscuits, relish trays, chocolate pudding with whipped topping, cake and milk, was served by the kitchen committee headed by Mrs. Donald Dalrymple, Mrs. Robert Stewart and Mrs. James Streich. Assisting were Mrs. Elton Nelson and Mrs. Eugene Wenzel. Pictured above is Jesse Newcomer instructing young Kim Wenzel and Jerry Nelson (left to right) in the intricate art of fly-tying, during the recreation and crafts period. Besides Mr. Newcomer, other adults assisting the staff were Donald Rudolph, Mrs. Donald Anderson, Mrs. S. J. Rickert, Mrs. Albert Hoffman, Mrs. Wilbur Swartz, and Tom Loree.

English Bulldog a Rare Sight in Warren

Though not uncommon in the United States, the English bulldog is a rare sight around Warren. Until the M. C. Townsends' "Mickey's Velvet Dump-lin'" gave birth to her litter of puppies there were only three pure bred bulldogs, excluding the Townsends' dog, in the county. These dogs are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lundberg, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vicini, Weldbank.

The bulldog is by no stretch of the imagination beautiful, however, the dogs looks and characteristics are the results of carefully planned and selective breeding with an ancestry dating back to 13th century England.

The bulldog is to England what the bald eagle is to the United States. The dogs were first bred and used exclusively to bait the bull, a cruel, vicious sport enjoyed by English royalty and commoner alike.

Bullbaiting, as a sport—if you could call it that, required the dog to attack a full size bull, and "throw" him to the ground. The sport had different variations, but usually the bull was "staked out" or tied with a very strong leash in a court yard or public square. The bull was then angered by prodding with sticks. Once the bull had reached a point of near frenzy the specially bred dog, courageous, determined, vicious would be turned loose to attack the bull. The ensuing battle was generally a fight to the death—either the bull's or the dog's.

Although facing a foe over 40 times his own weight, the dog nevertheless had been bred with certain characteristics in his favor. In the attack, the target was the bull's nose—the tenderest part of the animal's anatomy—and the dog would hang on until the bull was exhausted and fell to the ground.

For this purpose the dog's nose was well laid back so that breathing was not a problem while holding on to the bull's nose. Obviously to win the battle, the dog had to grip the bull's nose until the animal was brought down, therefore the dogs were bred with a lower jaw which curves up and extends slightly beyond the upper lip. The well wrinkled face of the bulldog was also a planned and selective characteristic of breeding. Obviously in an encounter with a bull, the nose of the bull would bleed. The wrinkled face of the dog allowed the blood from the bull to run down through the wrinkles and away from the dog's eyes.

The bulldog differs from other animals in the placement of the shoulders also. As strange as it might seem, the shoulders are on the outside of the body with the trunk of the body swinging between them. This formation was also necessary for baiting the bull. In the attack on a bull, the dog could crouch low on the ground and avoid being gored. Another reason for this type of shoulder development was; should the bull be fortunate enough to shake the grip of the dog and swing his attacker to the ground, the dogs legs would not be broken, as they would be in the case of any other breed. With this type of build the dog's legs acted much the same as a shock absorber—the initial contact with the ground, then the full weight—with the heavy padded chest taking the main force of the blow.

In 1773 England's legislature made the public amusement called bullbaiting illegal and although the sport continued in a hidden, private way for well over 60 years, the dog bred specifically for the sport nearly became extinct by the mid 1800's.

THE SIRE

The sire of the litter is a prize winning fawn colored dog with black mask and white markings, named Jolly Jasper O' Pal Dar. A four year-old he is owned by Mr and Mrs. Palmer J. Phillips owners of the Pal Dor Kennel, Emporium, Pa. A show dog in the show ring he is always showed by his master, Jasper needs only one major win before he receives his championship.

A few men however saw traits in the dog which they felt should be preserved. These experts took on the task of developing and redeveloping until the breed, presently in existence, evolved.

The present day bulldog is considered a non-sporting dog. The animal is, however, still courageous and determined. He is obedient and has holding power in battle. In fact the English bulldog is the official mascot of the U.S. Marine Corps. Along with this inborn courage, determination and holding power are the added inherited characteristics of indifference to pleasure or pain, making the animal refuse to acknowledge abuse in the home, particularly from children.

Well established in this country, the breed has many admirers, despite the fact that breeding the dog is no task for the amateur. Even many reputable kennels shy away from the breeding of bulldogs. Because of their physical makeup, whelping is often difficult. Very few, if any—present-day female bulldogs are capable of bearing and raising their young. Cesarean operations are usually necessary.

There is, however, none of the old fighting, bullbaiting dog in the present day breed of bulldog. Though often characterized as a villain of great strength, the present-day breed is on the contrary docile and affectionate by nature, extremely well-tempered and an excellent pet for children. The bulldog today has all but lived down the stigma of the sport from which he gained his name.

NINE DAYS OLD

One of five surviving puppies from the original litter of seven, this pup at nine days was not much larger than the palm of an adult hand. Unlike two other puppies in the litter this pup's eyes had not yet opened. At ten days all five puppies had seen daylight for the first time.

PROTECTIVE MOTHER

Watching over her five babies, Dumplin' may not look too motherly, but those pups were hard to come by for her. Dumplin' like most female English bulldogs is not able to bear her young normally and the puppies must be taken by cesarean section. This is Dumplin's third litter. The Townsends' breed their dog once a year.

Miss Statia Sublette To Direct the Dance Dept. at Chautauqua

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y. — Statia Sublette returns to Chautauqua for her eighth summer season to direct the Dance Department after a full season of performing and choreographing which included participation in three different full-length "Nutcracker" ballet productions in three states. She directed the Youngstown Symphony Ballet Company's production in New Castle and Youngstown in December. She danced the role of Sugar Plum Fairy in the Buffalo Dance Company's December production, as well as in the Erie Ballet Company's January performances.

Miss Sublette's background includes international ballet seminars in Copenhagen, Denmark, a season in Havana, Cuba and also Jacob's Pillow, School of American Ballet and Ballet Repertory. She is presently teaching in her own schools in Erie, Pennsylvania and Youngstown, Ohio, and also guest teaches at other schools in the tri-state area.

The Dance Department at

Chautauqua offers the serious dance student a full seven-week program, Mondays through Fridays, beginning July 1 and concluding August 16. A faculty of eight, including several internationally known guest teachers, will provide the most complete offering of courses in the Dance Department's history. The dance program at Chautauqua is graded to provide the proper classes for each level of student capability from beginners to professional dancers.

Intermediate and advanced level dancers will again be given special courses in pirouette, pointe, adagio, and variations. The new one-week course in jazz, introduced last season, will be expanded to two classes to accommodate demand for it.

For more information concerning Chautauqua Summer Schools, write Joseph C. Clarke Vice President, Education, Chautauqua Institution, Chautauqua, New York, 14722.

21 DAYS OLD

At 21 days the pups are still awkward and barely able to stand by themselves. At this stage they start feeding on finely ground beef, pabulum and egg yolk mixed with evaporated milk. The more solid foods help compensate for the energy used in their efforts to stand and walk and shift for themselves. The Townsend's children Michael 6 and Bret 7 usually lend a hand at this stage for the pups require five meals a day. Five puppies plus five meals a day in single dishes adds up to a real handful.

FOUR AND A HALF WEEKS

At four and a half weeks the pups were completely weaned. Getting a check up and a shot from the "Vet" the pups are nearly ready to be sold and living a good life eating four meals a day consisting of some dry dog food moistened with evaporated milk.

FIVE WEEKS OLD

At five weeks the dogs are beginning to take on the characteristic appearance and stance of the pure bred Bulldog. This pup which resembles in many ways the sire of the litter may someday be a winning show dog.

G-E COLLEGE BOWL on Ch. 12 presents two all-girl teams meeting for the first time when Immaculata College, Immaculata, Pa., and Lake Erie College of Painesville, Ohio, compete for a first victory.

WONDERFUL WORLD OF COLOR on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 at 7:30 p. m. features "The Mystery of Edward Sime", the second half. Gallagher sets out to trap the brains behind a land swindle and a murder in a small Western town.

DICK VAN DYKE SPECIAL on Chs. 4 and 10 has Dick playing host to his brother, Jerry, comedian Carl Reiner and composer-pianist Michel Legrand. Features of the hour special are music that bridges the years from 1920's to the 1980's, dances that move through a ballroom and an oil refinery, a three minute special within a special, a concert of laughter and a salute to pantomime.

MONDAY

AMERICA on Ch. 4 at 9:30 p. m. tours through "Boston by the Sea". A tour of Freedom Trail, the most historic mile and a half in all America, highlights this visit to Massachusetts' first city.

ACADEMY AWARDS PRESENTATION on Ch. 7 at 10 p. m. is the 40th annual event presenting awards for motion picture arts and sciences. Bob Hope emcees the presentation of the "Oscar" awards at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium, Hollywood.

TUESDAY

TUESDAY NIGHT AT THE MOVIES on Chs. 2 and 12 at 9 p. m. is "Bedtime Story", starring Marlon Brando and David Niven. On the French Riviera, two con men who use their charm to extract large sums of money from wealthy women, compete to swindle an American tourist out of $25,000.

COMEDY OF ERNIE KOVACS will be presented on Ch. 7 at 10 p. m. This hour long special draws on programs, written, directed and acted by the late comedian. Featured is "The Nairobi Trio", the way-out, all-anthropoid musical group created by Kovacs.

NEWS SPECIAL on Ch. 4 at 10 p. m. presents "The Great American Novel", a new concept of presenting literature on television, demonstrating that great literature is as relevant today as when it was written. The broadcast focuses on one of Sinclair Lewis' works "Babbitt" and John Steinbeck's memorable "The Grapes of Wrath".

WEDNESDAY

KRAFT MUSIC HALL on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 at 9 p. m. features "Physical Phitness", a comedy special starring Don Rickles as host, with Pat O'Brien, Joe Garagiola, George Plimpton and Roosevelt.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT MOVIE on Ch. 7 at 9 p. m. is "Move Over Darling", a romantic comedy starring Doris Day and James Garner which involves a wife missing for five years following a plane crash in the Pacific and her sudden reappearance when her husband is about to remarry.

THURSDAY

COMEDY IS KING on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 at 7:30 p. m. has Alan King starring in a special program combining comedy and music to satirize contemporary life. Singer Connie Stevens is featured and Liza Minnelli is special guest star.

BOB HOPE SHOW on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 at 8:30 p. m. features "For Love or $$$", a comedy by Dean Hargrove, starring Bob Hope, Janet Leigh and Fernando Lamas. A tourist in South America becomes involved in foreign intrigue.

FRIDAY

FRIDAY NIGHT MOVIE on Ch. 4 at 9 p. m. offers the first TV showing of Ingrid Bergman's portrayal of "Joan of Arc", the legendary Maid of Orleans destined to lead an army to victory. Miss Bergman, as the young peasant girl from Lorraine divinely inspired to lead the French army to victory over the English early in the 15th century, is almost singly responsible for the crowning of the Dauphin as King of France.

AMERICAN ALCOHOLIC on Chs. 2, 6, and 12 at 10 p. m. is a news study of the middle-class American alcoholic who represents 60 percent of the nation's six million alcoholics. The program focuses on this group of inebriates which includes professionals, housewives, farmers, factory workers, teachers, clergymen and physicians. Men and women undergoing treatment for alcoholism at clinics in San Francisco, St. Louis, Hartford, Atlanta and Central Islip, N. Y., are interviewed.

Your Horoscope By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 6, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—While you go about chores, do not forget "extras" that may be overdue. But avoid crowding yourself to the point of exhaustion.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Heed the other person all the way through; do not anticipate his final sentence of "jump the gun" in answering. You could miss the point, make errors if not on guard.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Is there unfinished business? Attend to it before taking off on tangents, week-end activities. There is growing dissension in some areas: You aim for harmony, concord.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Concentrated effort will do the trick on this day of somewhat mixed influences. All challenges should prove interesting, however. Shun extremes.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—If efforts are not as result-getting as you believe they should be, think things out carefully. There may be a simple answer, only a small change needed—a "glamor touch," perhaps.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Wisdom, dexterity and pleasing personality belong to this Sign. Emphasize these traits now. Simplify the complicated, unravel red tape. You should do well.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—A good time for receiving—and bestowing—favors. Fend off the skeptics and the worry birds. Don't make changes just because someone suggests them. Have a logical reason.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—Enterprise, promotional matters, social or business get-togethers favored. You should have a good day.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—You can take a breather now, especially if your week was briskly paced. It is wise to call a halt, or set a different tempo when it won't interfere with progress. Crafts favored.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Vigor, a sense of responsibility and pluck will be needed now. Situations may not work out as expected. Don't rush forward; step cautiously, knowingly.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—A system may have to be revised to include a seemingly odd procedure or set of rules. Don't be dismayed. Things should all work out for the best.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Some changes possible. Take the good things for all they are worth. Offer your ideas, and plans to assist others out of THEIR dilemmas.

YOU BORN TODAY have many talents, great versatility. You back up wishes with powerful action, can invigorate a whole community if you so desire. Never dismayed by efforts required, the Arien can achieve while many still contemplate "HOW?" Don't overtax yourself with too many "extras". If your power is first turned to self-mastery you will attain quickly, directly. Birthdate of: Raphael, renowned Ital. painter; Lowell Thomas, author, lecturer, explorer.

How to Keep Well By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PREMENSTRUAL TENSION

Many women are restless and nervous prior to menstruation. Some gain weight due to fluid retention in the tissues. The symptoms are ignored except by the 10 to 20 per cent who want relief.

Premenstrual tension and edema are most troublesome between the ages of 30 and 45. The cyclic nature and timing of the condition suggest that an imbalance of the ovarian hormones is causative. Prior to the bleeding phase, these women develop headache, insomnia, and dull aching in the pelvic region. Others become depressed, have crying spells, backache, and tender, painful breasts. The fluid in the tissues may not be outwardly noticeable but the scale reading goes up 3 to 5 pounds. Puffiness of the eyelids may coexist. The symptoms usually subside once the flow begins.

The majority respond to oral diuretics given with a tranquilizer. In women over 40, it may be necessary to induce artificial menopause via X-ray. A small percentage experience severe tension prior to and during the first few days of the cycle.

Depression may be so acute that suicide is considered or attempted. Others resort to alcohol and occasionally must be hospitalized to sober up. Still others develop definite schizophrenic reactions with strange behavior. One woman had an uncontrollable desire to throw her children out the window, despite her sincere love for them.

A group of Los Angeles psychiatrists recently told of a young divorcee who had a complete change in personality during the premenstrual cycle. Since age 12, she was extremely irritable and depressed at these times. She felt so helpless that suicide was contemplated. While hospitalized at the University of California Neuropsychiatric institute, she was cheerful, sociable, and able to work during the first two weeks of the cycle. A complete turnaround in personality and attitude took place during the third week. This progressed in severity until menstruation began.

TOMORROW: Exploding Golf Balls.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

GROWING TUMOR ON HAND

N.L.B. writes: I have a growth between the thumb and index finger of my right hand. The lump started out like a small lentil, but now it is the size of a marble. There is no pain. What should be done about it?

REPLY

Never neglect a tumor that is growing. May I suggest that you see a physician?

Today 51st Anniversary of Start of WWI

By BETTY RICE

April 6 marks the 51st anniversary of the ending of World War I. Since that time, veterans from that conflict, World War II, the Korean War and now Vietnam have returned to civilian life and its many difficult adjustments.

World War I veterans, however, today have a tougher row to hoe than many of their compatriots.

Ross Qualkinbush, publicity chairman for Barracks, 1258, Veterans of World War I Organization, McAllen, Texas, points out that in 1918, a WW I veteran was an average age of 23. He served his country in trenches in a strange and foreign land. In 1935 he was 40. He suffered through the depression, kept faith and preserved American Democracy.

Qualkinbush reminds the WW I veteran in 1943 was 48. His labor produced weapons of war which made his country an arsenal of freedom. He gave his sons in World War II and his grandsons in Korea. Today his great grandsons are fighting in Vietnam.

According to the writer, the WW I veteran is now an average of 73 years. He is in retirement and in most cases is suffering from a number of chronic illnesses. His income has been reduced to an existence level. He has given a lifetime of service and provided the manpower in four major wars. Qualkinbush asks -- "What is his reward?" He offered his all in his country's hour of need. In his twilight of life, what does his country offer him?"

The American Legion was the WW I organization until it opened its charter to veterans of later wars in the early 1940's. From then on, veterans of 1917-18-19 found themselves without a clear-cut voice on Capitol Hill in Washington. From self preservation in 1953, the present WW I organization, known as Veterans of WW I, USA, was organized and it struggled along until its charter was granted in 1958.

Today the organization has some 235,000 members. For the most part, the writer advises, the men have reached an age between 71 and 77. Only a few of these receive full social security benefits and it is obvious retirement benefits must come from either military service, railroad or business firms.

These veterans, it is pointed out, find themselves in an economic squeeze in cases where retirement funds do not go up with the cost of living.

For a necessary reason, then, the WW I Veterans Organization, is asking the government to augment such meager incomes by liberalizing Part III of the old veterans code which permitted veterans (disabled or unable to work) $78.75 per month. It is requested this be liberalized to include for the most part all of the old veterans of WW I and the amount of pension be increased to cover the cost of living increases. All this and more is included in the current bill recently introduced in Congress.

According to Qualkinbush, the WW II and Korean veteran never had to fight for any just pension. In contrast, the WW I veteran has had to overcome tremendous handicaps and is still fighting for those rights, benefits and privileges which he feels are justly due him.

Reasons have been advanced as to why WW I veterans were not getting a better pension deal. One was that when WW II came along, instead of setting up a separate pension program for World War II veterans, the WW I law was amended to include WW II veterans. The same policy followed when the Korean War came along, the pension law again being amended to include Korean Veterans.

Millions of veterans are now involved with the potential cost of liberalizing and increasing a pension program which applies to all groups of veterans.

Efforts have been made at different times to propose more liberal pensions for WW I veterans because of their advanced age. But in each instance Congress refused to separate WW I veterans from the other two groups and, consequently, they cannot get an increase for one without increasing the others.

It was stated the reason why the Spanish-American War veterans have always had a liberal and generous pension program was because their program had been kept separate and apart from programs affecting other war groups. When World War I came along, instead of merging WW I pensions along with Spanish-American War pensions, a separate program was set up for the former. Observers feel had this procedure been followed when WW II came along, there possibly would have been no difficulty in getting a more generous program for WW I veterans.

BY DON NEAL

It was late in the afternoon and I was heading for home as the storm clouds gathered in the sky. We were in for some rain and from the looks of things it wouldn't be too long in coming. I had been watching for evidence that the skunk cabbage were poking their huge green leaves up from the ground so recently covered with snow, when it occurred to me that the threatening rain may bring the mud - puddle minstrels (frogs) into action, or at least would start the peepers singing their noisy love songs.

Probably I was expecting more to hear the peepers than the frogs for these miniature facsimiles of the larger members of the frog family come along first in the early spring as if it was their duty to determine that warming weather has really set in. They aren't much larger than an average thumb nail, except in the voice department. But put enough of these peepers in a marshy place on a warm spring night and you'll get such a clamorous medley of peep-like singing that your ears may hurt.

It's in the very early spring that the peepers gather in the marshy places. Then, while blowing their throat sacs up like bubbles, the male peepers make the countryside ring with their love songs. They make such a clamor that the only way you can enjoy their music is to be off at some distance. Then it sounds good.

As I travelled along the clouds became more threatening. Finally I had to turn on the windshield wipers, then it wasn't too long before I came into an area where it must have been raining for some time. And I wasn't more than a mile or two further along until I heard the first of the peepers off in a marsh somewhere across the valley from where the highway was located. Spring was really here!

Now, as spring progresses, I can expect to see more frogs and toads regularly, or at least hear them more regularly. There will be the chorus frog, and the gray tree, cricket, leopard, pickerel, green, wood and bull frogs. In addition there will be the toads that are so common in our gardens during the summertime. All will have a go at singing their love songs and finally mating in the waters of any marsh area that provides enough water to float the eggs that are laid by the females.

Frog eggs are usually in the form of jelly-like masses, while toad eggs are strung out in long ribbons. Both will float in the water until hatched into tadpoles.

The freshly hatched tadpole is an interesting little creature.

Equipped with a plump little body and a flat tail it darts around in its watery home searching for food which usually consists of algae and minute particles of decayed vegetation. In fact, it has on the underside of its body little suckers which allow it to cling to underwater vegetation while waiting for food to come floating along.

After a time, legs begin to form on the back portions of its body and the fact that it will someday become a frog is indicated. Later then, the forelegs form, and the tail shrinks in size. The mouth gets larger and the gills that supplied it with oxygen while a tadpole are replaced with lungs so that it may live either in or out of the water. In most cases the transition (change) from egg to frog only takes about a month. But the green frog spends its first entire year as a tadpole and the bull frog takes two years to grow to maturity.

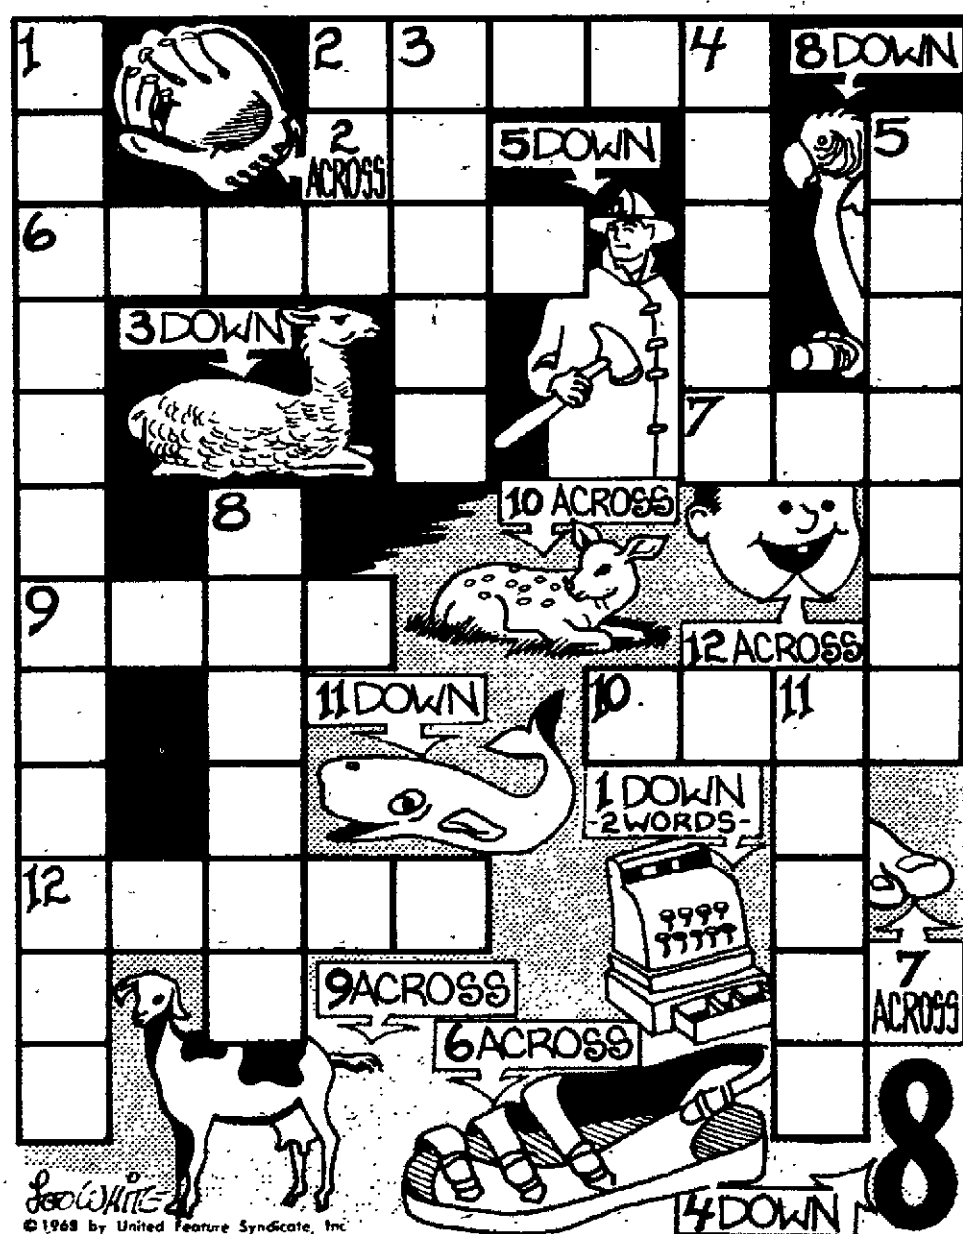

I have often been asked why the tree frog and peepers can climb while other frogs and toads can't. Well, these two climbers have sticky discs on the end of their toes which makes climbing easy. The other frogs and toads aren't so lucky.

But the one thing all frogs and toads do have is a really marvelous tongue. Their tongues are fastened to the front of their mouths, exactly opposite to our own, so that they can flick them out with lightning speed to catch a passing insect. It is said that they can reach more than half the length of their body with this tongue and flip an insect into their mouths in about one-twelfth of a second. Less time in fact than it takes a human to draw in his breath.

Now if you want to face up to a real challenge during this time of the year when the frogs and toads are singing their love songs, just try to catch them in the act. You'll find them in a swampy or marshy area, but you'll do a better job of stalking than a Daniel Boone before you see one swell up his throat and cut loose with a shrill peep, grunt, clack or croak. And the surprising thing is that when you finally do see one singing his love call his mouth will be closed. In fact he can even "sing" while under water. How would you like to try doing that?

THE "THREE O's"

Everybody is familiar with the "Three R's of Learning," but a survey by the Guild of Prescription Opticians of America shows that very few people know the "Three O's."

According to the Guild, the "O's" are Ophthalmologist, Optician and Optometrist. The Ophthalmologist is the eye medical doctor; the Optician specializes in designing, fabricating and dispensing eye-wear prescribed by the Ophthalmologist, while the Optometrist measures refractive errors and muscle disturbances. His treatment includes glasses, prisms and exercise.

To VICTORY

...that is the cry of the multitude. Today we join the happy throngs around the earth, as we shout together. "Hosanna! Whatever the morrow may hold of suffering, today we declare to the world... 'Christ has come.' Because we are in His company, we know that God ultimately will be sovereign over all the world. We are confident that goodness is stronger than evil. We are sure love will triumph over hate. Whatever a Friday of crucifixion may bring of temporary defeat, we know life will triumph over death, and the Christian way will resolve itself supremely in the final destiny. Then Palm Sunday is a day to celebrate and set up our banner of hope. 'For right is right as God is and right the day must win.' This hope will convert, for us, spiritual defeat into eternal victory.

SARON LUTHERAN CHURCH—YOUNGVILLE

Brightness and Gloom

By The Rev. James P. Dorow, pastor of Saron and Berea Lutheran Churches, Youngsville—Pittsfield

Spring is here. The days are warm and sunny. The birds are singing and building their ests. Flowers are sprouting from the ground and trees are beginning to bud.

In the midst of this happy time of year, Christians once again observe the solemn period of Holy Week. If we look back to the events of the last week of the Savior's life, we see that it also began with joy and gladness. The crowds that surrounded the Master as he rode into Jerusalem were happy. They waved palm branches and shouted, "Hosanna!" This cry, which was addressed to Jesus in recognition that he had come from God, meant, "Save us we beseech thee".

However, in just a few days, the cries of the crowd changed. Rather than shouting Hosanna, they screamed, "Crucify Him!" What had begun in brightness and joy, came to an end in gloom and horror. The man who had been cheered by the crowd as the promised Messiah on Sunday, was mocked, beaten and spit upon on Friday. The hero on the ass became the victim on the cross.

Now we look back across the centuries and as the hideousness of it all is brought to mind, we may feel the urge to cry out, "Dear God, Why?" The answer to our cry is clear if we are sincere in wanting to know the truth. The truth is that Jesus had not fulfilled the expectations of the crowd because the people were looking for a glorious earthly kingdom while Jesus was calling for allegiance to a kingdom not of this world. So the crowd condemned the King of Kings to death. He was quickly disposed of as an impostor and a fraud.

Unfortunately, people are still much the same today. Life has become an endless search for worldly possessions, worldly pleasures and worldly satisfaction. We spend our time, energy and wealth going along with the crowd and pleasing ourselves. Much of our behavior shouts, "Crucify Him!" but he prays, "Father, forgive them". The gloom of Holy Week is due to OUR sin. However, if we turn to Christ in true repentance, he will make his Easter victory ours.

A Tribute to all Veterans of World War I

ON THE 51st ANNIVERSARY OF THAT WAR

War Declared
APRIL 6, 1917

WAR ENDED
NOV. 11, 1918

On this day, we pause in remembrance and gratitude, as we salute our veterans. Proudly, we honor all veterans who so valiantly served their country, in defense of freedom, and those who, with equal valor, serve today.
